COUNCIL RAISES LICENSE FEES

Hotels and Saloons Will Pay Four Hundred Dollars Per Year

AMENDMENTS AS TO FAIR

Two of the Clauses Proposed by Ald. Fell Are Adopted

The majority of the city council favor an advance in the saloon and hotel liquor license fees of $100, making the annual fee $400 instead of $300 as at present. The question of the increase in the fees, which has been before the council for the past two weeks, again came up for discussion last night. Ald. Gleason's amendment to the bylaw, to the effect that the fee be raised from the present figure to $500 a year was defeated in committee of the whole, and the amendment proposed by Ald. Fell that the fee be placed at $400 was carried, while an amendment to the amendment that the fee remain as it is, proposed by Ald. Vincent, was also lost. Those voting in favor of the $100 increase were Aldermen Fell, Vincent, Ross, Hanna, Henderson, and Verinder. Mayor Morley and Aldermen Hall, Gleason, Meston and Fullerton against, they supporting the original motion to increase the fee to $500.

Ald. Hanna pointed out that at the last meeting Mayor Morley had stated that he thought the license fee in Vancouver was $1,000. As a matter of fact the present fee is $600, and considering the fact that the number of saloons in both Vancouver and Victoria are nearly the same, while the population of the former city is much larger, the license holders here are paying more than those in Vancouver. He said he was ashamed to take part in what he called "cheap parish politics" and "liquor tinkering." The council might be better employed.

Ald. Hall called attention to a remark of the mayor at the last council meeting that next year the Y.M.C.A. would come to the council for the license, and that it would be wise for the city to have the increased revenue which would accrue from the increase in the license fee. Ald. Hall wanted to be distinctly understood that he was not in favor of raising money from the liquor traffic for the Y.M.C.A., though he was a good friend of that association.

Ald. Fell's suggestion, made at the last meeting, that a fee of, say $100 or $50, be charged on every transfer of license, was again considered and the clause regarding the sale of liquor in restaurants, which have no license to sell such at meals, was also laid over. This latter clause provides for a penalty where liquor is sold on the premises, Mayor Morley claiming that in some of these restaurants a customer can be served with liquor which has been purchased at a nearby saloon.

The bylaw will come up for its final reading at the next meeting of the council.

Once again Ald. Gleason introduced his amendment to the Public Morals bylaw which has been hanging fire for two weeks. The first time he brought the matter to the attention of the council it was laid over for a week, owing to the opposition on the part of Ald. Fell who asked that the members of the council be given more time to consider the proposed changes.

At last night's meeting Ald. Fell introduced further amendments and the discussion, after lasting a lengthy period, was again adjourned, this time at the request of Ald. Gleason himself, who did not take kindly to the criticism of his amendment.

Last night he presented a new amendment which differed somewhat from his first one in that instead of absolutely and entirely prohibiting the sale, barter, exchange or giving away of spirituous or fermented liquors on any of the lands or premises owned by the city, the amendment as now submitted reads as follows: "No spirituous or fermented liquors shall be permitted to be sold, bartered, exchanged stored or given away (with intent by such giving away to evade the foregoing restriction) upon any premises which the corporation of the city of Victoria either owns or controls, save in cases of medical necessity therefor."

This change in his original amendment was forced upon the alderman by the criticisms which arose over his first proposition. In addition to the above he also added a section to the amendment prohibiting gaming on any of the city's premises.

At last week's meeting Ald. Fell had introduced an amendment to the bylaw as follows:

"No leasing of any lands or premises of the corporation or any part thereof, or permission to use any public park or lands or premises of the corporation, or any part thereof, shall hereafter be made to any person, firm or corporation without an express stipulation in writing being made:

"(a) Prohibiting in and upon such lands or premises or public park, all and every kind of gambling or game of chance for money or money's worth;

"(b) Prohibiting any theatrical, circus or mountebank performances, exhibitions or shows of immoral, indecent or questionable character;

"(c) Prohibiting truckstering, or trafficking any fruits, goods, wares or merchandise which are likely to cause a disturbance or create a nuisance;

"The council shall impose proper and strict regulations and penalties to insure the observance of the above restrictions in every lease or license to occupy, and use, any corporation lands or premises or any city park or portion thereof."

Ald. Fell was unable to see why Ald. Gleason had taken part of his amendment, that regarding betting or gaming, and left out the remainder. He objected, too, to Ald. Gleason bringing in an amendment different to that which had been first presented to the council. Finally the council, in committee of the whole, struck out clause 2 of the Public Morals Bylaw and substituted therefor that amendment presented by Ald. Gleason as above. In addition clauses "B" and "C" and the balance of Ald. Fell's amendment was adopted and incorporated in the amending bylaw.

The amendment was reported progress but the consideration of the report was adjourned to a subsequent meeting in order that the bylaw as it is now proposed to amend it may be submitted to the meeting of the B. C. Agricultural association to be held Nov. 20.

PRESIDENT GOMPERTS ON LABOR'S PLACE

Address at the Opening of the Annual Convention of the Federation

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 11.—The first session of the Labor Federation of the United States, which began its twenty-seventh annual convention at the Jamestown exposition today, was devoted to speech making and the reading of the reports. On adjournment tonight, President Gompers, Secretary Morrison and Treasurer Lennon had submitted their reports and a partial report of the credentials committee had been heard.

In response to the address of welcome by Governor Swanson and President Tucker of the exposition, Mr. Gompers paid a tribute to Virginia, and to the exposition, saying that this is the first exposition of its kind built entirely by organized labor. He commended his remarks chiefly to general matters but toward the end came down to labor principles. He said: "I know of no organization that makes so little pretense of patriotism, but in which true patriotism prevails to such a large extent as in organized labor. We want peace, we love peace and are working for peace, and in the proportion that our working people are better organized we will secure peace. But we are not supine. We are not driving scoundrels. We know our rights, and we think we do and that is just as good, and we are going to stand for them."

"I do not want to discuss any military or naval matters, but the policies of our government, but we all know that the Federal authorities have decided that the navy of the United States is going to be transferred from the Atlantic to Pacific. That action has created considerable comment, most of it favorable, some adverse. Even that I do not want to discuss, but there is a man chosen to boss the job of taking that fine fleet of the ocean to the other of whom I wish to say. That is fighting Bob Evans, who said in connection with transferring the fleet: 'I don't know what may be the result of this cruise. I have only one mission, and that is to see that the fleet goes to the Pacific ocean; and whether it is to be for frolic or fun or a fight, we will be there.'"

"It is to that I want to refer and make an application to the labor problem. If it is to be peace or to be fun, or a frolic, we shall all be there. I don't think there is any man who loves peace more than I do. I believe that industrial peace is essential to our progress, almost as essential as air to the lungs of breathing animals, but the time is past when the possessors of wealth—the employers of labor who consider themselves masters can look down upon the laboring man who stoops with bent shoulders and accepts the order of the master."

"Labor today stands erect, looking the world in the face, insisting upon equal treatment, equal opportunity and resenting any attempt at injustice or wrong."

The committee on credentials held a session tonight in Norfolk and took up various contests.

CHINESE COME UNDER CONTRACT

Facts Developed at Commissioner King's New Inquiry at Vancouver

EXPENSE PAID BY OTHERS

Conservative Meeting Adopts Rules in Regard to Conventions

Vancouver, Nov. 11.—That the Chinese, now being brought into Canada are under contract and therefore brought in contravention of the labor law was established this afternoon by Commissioner Mackenzie King, who has opened the new inquiry. The commissioner dropped the ordinary examination of witnesses and adjourned from the city hall to the Oriental detention sheds, where are quartered ninety Chinese who today paid the head tax of $500.

Mr. King's move was unexpected and the new arrivals told the facts of the immigration party had ten dollars. One said he was promised employment in Moose Jaw, another in Winnipeg and two others in Toronto. They understood they were working for other people until their board bills and head tax were repaid.

A crowded meeting of the Conservatives was held tonight, C. M. Woodworth presiding. The meeting decided to adopt the report of the executive, which recommends that there be no change in the present primary system, except that hereafter delegates to conventions will not be instructed that they must be bound absolutely to support the nominee of the convention. This means that delegates' hands will not be tied and they will be better able to represent the views of the various primaries.

The tug Edith went ashore in the Narrows on Sunday night and badly smashed one of the city's four water mains.

The Ashtie Exclusionists tonight decided to place a full ticket in the field, from mayor to park commissioners, for the municipal elections. They will also furnish witnesses to Mackenzie King for the immigration investigation.

Saved by Fish Catch.
 Halifax, Nov. 11.—Business activity in every part of the French colony of St. Pierre has been restored by the success of the fishing fleet this season. The total catch of the fleet is 120,000 quintals of fish worth about $500,000. The catch, which averaged 1,780 quintals for each of the seventy-one vessels sailing out of St. Pierre were lost and the victims numbered 123, many of whom left large families. The Madeleine, with twenty men on board, was never heard of since leaving the colony on her first trip.

IS NO OCCASION FOR EXCITEMENT

Reported Message From Japanese Emperor Is Part of Old Rescript

Washington, Nov. 11.—The Japanese ambassador today expressed regret that a passage in an imperial rescript on education issued on October 20, 1890, and read every year on certain festival occasions, admonishing subjects of Japan to offer themselves to the state in case of emergency, had been interpreted in public reports from Honolulu as a special message from the Emperor relative to the celebration of his birthday. The ambassador said today that it is not the Emperor's practice to issue a message on his birthday, and that the passage quoted in the rescript, "should emergency arise offer yourselves courageously to the state," is simply an excerpt from the seven-year-old rescript addressed by the Emperor to Japanese students through the minister of education.

RUSSIAN PARLIAMENT

Preparations Complete for Opening on Thursday—Probable Course of Parties

St. Petersburg, Nov. 11.—The preparations have been completed for the opening of the Russian parliament on November 14, which will occur, like the second parliament, in the Tauride palace, and with little ceremony. The current reports that Emperor Nicholas would come to St. Petersburg and receive the delegates personally at the Winter Palace, as on the convocation of the first parliament, are devoid of foundation. They were based on the supposition that the Emperor wished to signalize the conservative character of the latest body, but the step has been regarded as objectionable.

Premier Stolypin and the cabinet members will be present. After a religious service, M. Golubeff, vice-president of the council of the Empire, will read the imperial ukase convoking parliament and a brief greeting from the Emperor, which, it is anticipated, will be couched in a warmer tone than his address to a radical first parliament. M. Golubeff will then invite the members to proceed to the election of a president of the house, who, it is expected, will be Nicholas Nikolaevich, October 1st, of Smolensk, or M. Rodzianko, also an October 1st, of Ekaterinoslav.

The prospects of co-operation of the Octoberists and Constitutional Democrats on a moderate liberal programme are steadily improving. Both parties have rejected the idea of a congress at Helsinki, which was dominated by the moderates, it was decided to shelve all demands for extreme reform which would produce a break between the parties. The Moderates will support the measures proposed by the Octoberists or the ministry having the same general tendency as their programme. The Octoberist leader, M. Plekoko, of Moscow, and Alexander J. Guchkoff, of Moscow, at a recent conference sounded the keynote of the Moderate constitutionalists. M. Guchkoff threw down the gauntlet to the reactionists in a toast to the Emperor, "who has broken with the dark past."

Successor to Hon. Dr. McInnis

Brandon, Nov. 11.—Brandon Conservatives will hold a convention here within the next two or three days to select a candidate as successor to the late Dr. McInnis. It is understood G. R. Goldwell will be nominated and will be given the portfolio of provincial secretary and minister of education.

STRINGENCY HURTS CALIFORNIA BANKS

Institutions in Oakland and Ventura Obligated to Suspend Payment

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—The Union National bank, the oldest bank in Oakland, closed today.

The Oakland clearing house is investigating the case, but will not report for several days. L. B. Brown, of the California Safe Deposit & Trust Company, was vice-president until a few days ago. It is said the bank closed because of its connection with the California Safe Deposit & Trust Company.

The deposits in the Union bank amount to $1,145,925. There is due state banks $241,051. The bank held $75,000 of county money, and this was secured by $32,000 in Oakland school bonds. It is supposed that the district attorney got the county cash out of the bank this morning. This formal statement was issued by President Palmer: "It has been deemed advisable to close the doors of this bank pending the continuance of the legal holidays declared by the governor. This action, it is thought, will best conserve the interests of the bank and its depositors. The bank is solvent, and the depositors are fully protected." The bank of William Collins and Sons closed its doors today, and a statement was issued that the bank is taking advantage of the day—today holiday. The bank has deposits of $400,000, and its assets far exceed that amount. The immediate cause of the suspension is lack of ready cash owing to the inability of farmers to sell crops and to the bank's inability to get cash from correspondents in other cities. D. Edwards Collins, of the California Bank of Oakland, is president.

GERMAN EMPEROR WARMLY GREETED

British War Vessels Salute as Imperial Yacht Reaches Portsmouth

FOG CAUSES LONG DELAY

Reception by King and Queen, and Journey to Windsor Castle

Portsmouth, Nov. 11.—Owing to a chilling and dense fog which made a passage from the Isle of Wight impossible, the German Imperial yacht Hohenzollern, having on board Emperor William, the Empress and other members of the party who are to visit King Edward and Queen Alexandra, was unable to cross on the early tide. The Hohenzollern with the escorting fleet anchored last night off Selsey Bill for the night, not having been able to enter Sandown bay according to the programme.

The German Emperor's faith in the healing qualities of the climate of the Isle of Wight have received a rude shock, as owing to thick fog, even the precise position of the imperial yacht was not known until early noon, when it was discovered that she had felt her way through the gloom to the Naze lightship and had anchored there, pending a sufficient harbor on Monday to enable the party to land at Great Britain's premier dockyard. As it was then too late to catch the tide and enter the harbor, the reception party ashore waited patiently until the Hohenzollern entered Portsmouth.

The British channel fleet, under the command of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford and numbering fifty warships, dressed from stem to stern, saluted the German Emperor as the Hohenzollern entered the narrow waters of Spithead, and the land batteries joined in the welcome as the yacht entered the harbor.

Owing to the delay by fog the hour of arrival of the Hohenzollern at the jetty was miscalculated, the announcement being made that she would not get through until 2:40 p. m., but she steamed into the harbor an hour earlier, with the result that all the officials, the guards of honor, who had been patiently waiting for the ship's arrival throughout the morning, had gone to lunch when she finally appeared through the fog. The emperor apparently enjoyed the surprise he had sprung on the British officials, and the consequent scramble to get back to the jetty in time to take part in the welcome of the imperial visitors.

After inspecting the guards of honor, the German emperor and empress and their suites, accompanied by Prince of Wales and his suite, left Portsmouth by train for Windsor at 2:30 p. m., amidst the fire of a royal salute from the assembled warships and the garrison batteries.

The imperial party reached Windsor at 5 o'clock and were warmly greeted by King Edward and Queen Alexandra. The two monarchs and their wives cordially embraced, and then went to Windsor castle. The visitors had left the fog behind them, and as they entered the ancient town, the weather was bright and everything tended to extend a joyful greeting to the travelers. The railroad station was profusely decorated, and the half-mile route to the castle was bright with bunting of many colors, while above the castle entrance flew an immense imperial flag.

The whole town turned out in honor of the occasion and gave their monarchs a hearty reception. The procession from the station to the castle was headed by a detachment of the household cavalry, after which came a carriage containing Emperor William, King Edward, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught. In the second carriage were the Empress, Queen Alexandra, the Princess of Wales and Princess Victoria. The suites followed in other carriages and a detachment of household cavalry brought up the rear. The route to the castle was lined by troops.

LEASE STILL HELD UP BY THE COUNCIL

The Old Contract Between Mill Companies and City Not Yet Signed

Once again the question of the lease from the city to the Taylor Mill company and the Lemon, Gonnason company came before the city council last night. The existing lease which was entered into by the council of three years ago, but to which the seal of the city has not yet been affixed, had been held in abeyance so long that few of the members of the present council were aware of its terms or the status of the matter when it was again brought up about two months ago. In order to get the facts the whole matter was referred to the streets, bridges, and sewers committee which reported on it suggesting some changes in the terms.

To these the mill companies took exception and they were asked to attend a meeting of the committee to discuss the matter of the lease. They were not present at the meeting and the committee concluded that they did not desire to have any changes made. The matter now stands in the same position as when the committee first took hold of it.

Some time ago Ald. Hanna moved that the city seal be affixed to the lease. Both companies, about three years ago, attempted to get a lease of the premises from the Dominion government. The city stepped in and also applied to the government with the result that the mill companies consented to attempt to secure a lease, it being agreed that when the city's title to the property was acknowledged by the Dominion government a joint lease would be granted to the mill companies. This was done but the lease was not signed by the city.

Ald. Hanna thought that the old lease should be signed at once, and Ald. Fell stated that the city should do so. He wished to repudiate its contract. Several of the other aldermen asked that the matter be held over to see if the mill companies would not consent to certain changes which they thought should be incorporated in the lease. Ald. Fullerton thought that rather than agree to the lease as previously drawn it would be better to relinquish the property to the crown again and make a fresh application for title. It was finally decided to notify the Lemon Gonnason company and the Taylor Mill company that they could, if they desired to do so, meet the council at the next council meeting with a view of discussing what changes they made in the lease as it is now drawn up. In this connection the city solicitors, Messrs. Mason and Mann, wrote as follows, their suggestion being approved by the council:

Gentlemen:—Re Eastern Indent of Rock Bay on Government Street.—We have the honor to advise that, in furtherance of the grant made by the Dominion authorities to the Corporation of the land now covered by mud and water between the Lemon-Gonnason and the Taylor Mill properties, application should be made to the Provincial government for the cession to the city of the land now covered by mud and water between the Lemon-Gonnason and the Taylor Mill properties. The grant from the Dominion authorities vests in the corporation such interest as the Dominion possessed as the harbor authority, but, following the course adopted in the case of James Bay and the northern part of Rock Bay, the legislature should be asked next session to introduce a statute authorizing the grant to the corporation aforesaid, and thereafter give effect to the same.

This course meeting with the approval of the council, will prepare the application to be sent to the Provincial Secretary by the city clerk.

The report of the streets, bridges and sewers committee on the above, as well as on other matters, was adopted as follows:

Gentlemen:—Your streets, bridges and sewers committee having considered the undermentioned subjects, beg to report and recommend as follows: Re Government street lot at foot of Queen's avenue.

The Taylor Mill Co., and Messrs. Lemon, Gonnason & Co., were notified to be present at the regular meeting of the streets, bridges and sewers committee to discuss the matter of the lease of the above lot, and to endeavor to have certain changes made in the same. Letters were received from both parties stating that they regretted their inability to attend.

The committee concluded that there is no desire on the part of the Taylor Mill Co., and the Lemon, Gonnason Co., to have any changes made in the proposed form of the draft of lease.

We, therefore, beg to report that this matter stands in the same position as when referred to this committee.

Recommended that a wooden sidewalk be laid on Bellot street, above Cook street, 112 feet, to cost $19.

Also a wooden sidewalk on Davis street, 260 feet, to cost $44.

Also a wooden sidewalk on Sumas street, to cost $33.

Also to temporarily repair the wooden sidewalk on First street, with a view of placing a permanent walk there in the spring.

Also to lay a wooden sidewalk on Pine street, 60 feet, to cost $102.

Also that a two plank walk be laid on the south side of Chatham street from the centre of the block between Douglas and Government streets, to Government street, to accommodate the residents until a permanent walk can be laid. This will cost $25.

J. Sears re nuisance on Fifth street and Hillside avenue. Recommend that he be informed that the ditches have been cleaned out.

W. E. Beck at re sidewalk on Chatham street between Blanchard and Quadra streets. Recommend that a temporary walk be laid to replace the one destroyed by fire, at a cost of $26, and that the petitioners be so informed.

Hon. William Templeman re letter to Mr. Topp, wishing St. Andrew's street opened. We beg to recommend that Mr. Templeman be informed that St. Andrew's street will be graded and permanent sidewalks laid on the local improvement plan, if the majority of the owners on said street will petition the council to that effect.

Fifteen residents of that portion of Blanchard street lying between Caledonia avenue and Pembroke street, petitioned that steps be taken to clean out the brush and remove the dumps of garbage there, and prevent the further use of this portion of the city for the purpose of dumping refuse and garbage. The petitioners claim that it is a practice of scavengers and others to dump rotten fish and other offensive matter in the open spaces which forms a gore on Blanchard street, which offensive matter is a menace to the health of those living in that neighborhood, the stench arising being intolerable. The petition was referred to the sanitary inspector.

W. D. McGregor, Vancouver street, petitioned for the extension of the existing cement sidewalk on the east side of Vancouver street to the intersection of Southgate street; and a five-foot cement walk with boulevard and cement gutter along the north side of Southgate street to Cook street corner. He suggested that the corner of Southgate and Vancouver street be rounded off and offered to convey to the city the portion of his property so thrown into the street. The streets, bridges and sewers committee will consider the matter.

GOVERNMENT STREET OWNERS OBJECTIONS

Present Petition to Council Against Proposed Paving Scheme

The promised opposition to the city's proposition to go ahead and pave Government street developed at last night's council meeting when a petition signed by a large number of the property owners was read. The petition is signed by nearly all of the leading owners. The city's idea was to go ahead with the work, which would cost about $14,000, half of that amount to be paid by the city which would assume the first five years' payments, the period yet unexpired under the old assessment, and the property owners would make the last five payments, the term for which the assessment would run being ten years. This arrangement was arrived at at a recent meeting at which several of the property owners met the council and discussed the matter.

By far the greater part of the owners were not, however, represented at the meeting. These latter are adverse to the repaving of the thoroughfare unless the city assumes the entire cost, the work to be done as one of ordinary maintenance and repair. Only on this basis will they agree to the work proceeding. The petition which is given below, was referred to the city assessor for report:

"We, the undersigned owners of the land or real property to be assessed or charged in respect of the proposed paving of Government street, between Courtney and Johnson streets, as set out in the annexed bylaw, hereby petition the council against such assessment, and demand that the work be carried out in accordance with the provisions of the "Local Improvement General Bylaw" and amendments thereto."

The notice referred to in the above is the notice which has been published in the Colonist that the city proposes to go ahead with the work.

IS GOOD SEASON ON THE PORTLAND CANAL

Praise for Provincial Government for Building Bridge Over Bear River

The provincial government's 1800 foot bridge which has been almost completed this summer over the Bear river to the north of Stewart, the new townsite at the head of the Portland canal, has proved of great benefit to the residents of the district, according to C. H. Dickie, of the Portland Canal Mining company, who spent last night in the city en route home to Duncan after spending the summer in the north. The bridge has saved many lives and the residents of the district praise the provincial government for their action in hastening the construction of it. It would have been completed this fall had it not been for a lack of men and materials. Mr. Rabb, the engineer in charge, was making good headway, but late in the summer when some lucky strikes were made by miners in the neighborhood the government workmen left bridge building to go prospecting.

Mr. Dickie was accompanied to the mine by W. J. Ellendorf, the mining expert of Spokane and who is interested in the Arctic chief, the copper proposition at Whitehorse in which Captain John Irving and other Victorians are interested. Mr. Ellendorf pronounced the silver property of the Portland Canal company an excellent one. The vein, ranging from 7 to 12 feet in width runs into the mountain side at an angle of 20 degrees. The company has been tunneling in on the vein and this season have gone in about 250 feet. The work is entirely development work as yet, but has been sufficient to show the proposition is a very rich one, as the quartz carries gold (2 to 4 oz. to the ton) and silver of all value. The company have discontinued working during the winter season as there is no steamer communication nearer than Port Simpson. The difficulty of taking in powder and supplies and the location in the event of accident decided them on this course. Next session they will continue their development work and if the showing warrant it, they will build an aerial tram to carry their ore. They

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide

Frederick Mannell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '99, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2, he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. C. H. Bowes & Co., 98 Government street, Special Agents.

ATTEMPTS MURDER
AND THEN SUICIDES

Cigarmaker Attacks Nurse on Whom He Inflicts Painful Injury

Insane with rage at her persistent refusal to marry him, and determined that if he could not gain her for his wife, that both should die, Samuel Tota, early Sunday morning on Victoria Crescent, after almost succeeding in killing Lottie Dodd, a nurse in St.
Joseph's hospital, slashed his own throat and expired almost at the feet of the girl, on whom he had thrust his suits and who, bleeding from the wounds which he had inflicted upon her, saw him fall to the roadway, the victim of his own hand.

The tragedy, one of the worst in the history of Victoria, was enacted within a stone's throw of the hospital
which the girl had, but a few minutes
earlier, left to join a party of sister nurses, gone on ahead to attend divine services. Chastely saying good-night to some of her friends, who were on duty Miss Dodd went out about 7 o'clock. A few minutes later her terrified screams warned the neighborhood of the tragedy which almost ended in her death and did result in the self-inflicted murder of the man who had determined to marry her or die.

Today Miss Dodd lies at the hospital
horribly cut about the face and throat by the razor which Tota wielded with such fury. Every attention is being given the patient who will recover,
but for the balance of her life she will bear the marks of the wounds inflicted upon her.

That Tota's intentions were to either get his victim's consent to their marriage or to kill both, there is no doubt.
A revolver, just purchased, and a razor, were in his possession when they met. He first attempted to shoot the girl, but only succeeded in slightly wounding her on the left hand, though he fired two shots. She succeeded in warding off the gun which was knocked from his hand and then it was that he pulled out the razor which he wielded with fatal results.

For over a year Tota had been endeavoring to persuade the young lady to marry him. They first became acquainted when he took lodgings with the mother of the girl, early last autumn. During his stay in the city he was employed in the Province Cigar factory. Since going to New Westminster last Christmas he has repeatedly written, further pressing his suit.
On Thanksgiving Day last he came to Victoria where he again sought an answer and was refused. On Thursday Miss Dodd wrote a few lines telling him that it was not her intention to marry him, stating that this was her final answer. Following this Tota came to Victoria on Sunday evening, evidently determined to do harm, as indicated by the weapons in his possession, revolver and razor. Upon the fly-leaf of his pocket diary were the words "Should I die, I wish to be buried in Victoria."

After leaving the boat he went direct to the hospital. "It had been the intention of the girl to accompany some of the nurses to the Roman Catholic cathedral, but she was delayed for some reason, and when she left it was alone. She crossed the vacant ground between Collinson street and Victoria Crescent. The subsequent events are best told in her own words.

Miss Dodd's Statement.
She made a statement yesterday
morning to the following effect:
"Last evening, about 7 o'clock, I left the hospital to go to church. Some of the girls and I went on ahead. I passed down the street and on up the hill,
and when I was half way up Tota came up from behind me. He said
'Good evening' in a very friendly tone.
As I did not wish to be seen standing on the street with any person, I told him, I agreed to take a short walk with him.

"We walked several blocks and he kept on saying he wanted to marry me. I told him it was impossible, I couldn't marry him, that I was very well, and that I did not know enough about him.

"When we got in front of Premier McBride's house, he said to me: 'I want your final answer.'

"I told him again I could not marry him and all the time I was afraid he was going to do something. He then pulled a pistol out of his pocket,
placed the muzzle against my forehead. I knocked it away with my right hand when it went off. He then attempted to place it in the same position again. I tried to ward off the gun with my left hand and succeeded in doing so and it went off and shot through my fingers. I then began crying. He pulled something out of his pocket and slashed me around the face
with a sharp instrument of some kind.
Then I attracted the attention of someone standing at the grocery-store corner, and one person started to run.
Tota then ran some distance from me and the next I saw of him he fell on the road.

"I remember someone taking me to the hospital, but I was so excited and nervous that I cannot tell you any more. He did not knock me down. I stood on my feet all the time and struggled with him, trying to get away.
I have known him for some time, and was simply friendly with him, that was all. I had never promised to marry him."

Attracts Passersby

Miss Dodd's screams for help attracted the attention of Charles Perrin,
"Rocabella," and Robert Sangster, residing at 801 Collinson street, both within but a few yards of the place where Tota made his attack upon the nurse.
Mr. Pemberton was seated in his rooms reading when he heard two persons, he went on to the veranda ports. He was quite dark and he could see nothing. He was about to return indoors when he heard screams. He rushed down to the sidewalk and a few feet along the street he saw the figure of a woman who cried, as he approached, "That man has tried to kill me." This attracted Mr. Pemberton's attention to the other figure. He caught hold of Miss Dodd, and found that her clothing was wet with blood. On the road Tota was lying groaning loudly, and Mr. Pemberton was debating what was the best thing to do when Mr.

Sangster, who had also been attracted by the shots and the screams, appeared. Mr. Pemberton asked Mr. Sangster to look after Miss Dodd, while he ran into the Rocabella and called up the police.

Mr. Sangster, when he first ran out upon the street, could see nothing, but being directed by renewed screaming, rushed up the Crescent. He had taken but a few steps when a woman ran against him. It was Miss Dodd, and she cried "For Heaven's sake, help me." To Mr. Sangster's question as to what was the matter, Miss Dodd told him that "that man" had tried to kill her. Mr. Sangster looked around for the man and saw Tota moaning on the ground. Just then the police appeared and taking charge of Miss Dodd, Mr. Sangster started to take her to his own home, when she informed him that she was a nurse at the St. Joseph's hospital, and he took her there. Miss Dodd had around her neck a heavy fur ruff, which doubtless was the cause of her falling in warding off the razor. At the hospital Miss Dodd declared to Mr. Sangster that "That man wanted me to marry me, but I would not."

Police Arrive On Scene
Inspector Walker and Constable Woods arrived with the patrol wagon. Tota was still alive but expired almost immediately afterwards. The body was taken to the morgue where the effects of the suicide were taken in charge. The body was yesterday morning taken to the undertaking
rooms, with the police. Among Tota's effects was a union card issued by the Cigarmakers' Union of New Haven, Conn. This card had been transferred when he came to Victoria to the local order. The letter written by Miss Dodd on Thursday last was also found and a bank book and some money were also found with a pocket diary, were taken charge of by the police. In the latter was an address in Elmira, New York, but whether that is where he comes from is not yet known.

His deed of self destruction was determinately accomplished. A single flash across the throat was sufficient to put an end to his life.

Serious But Not Fatal

Miss Dodd's injuries are very serious, but will not result fatally. Besides a cut across the throat, almost from ear to ear, Tota, in his attempt at murder, had slashed her from the left eye to the corner of the mouth and across the chin and down the right side of the face. Despite the great loss of blood, she made an heroic fight for her life, and the escape is marvellous. In warding off the revolver, the shot took effect in the left hand, and a portion of one finger was shot away. The hospital surgeons did everything possible to save her life,
and their efforts will prove successful.
Yesterday Miss Dodd was greatly improved and while it was very difficult for her to speak, she managed to give the above account of the events of Sunday night.

Mrs. Dodd was at church when the crime occurred and it was not until some time after that she was aware of her daughter's narrow escape.

The young lady is well and favorably known in Victoria, and has a large circle of acquaintances who are all deep in her misfortune. As a nurse her work has been most satisfactory to those who have come under her care for no one could be kinder or more attentive to her patients than was Miss Dodd. In fact, she is dearly loved by all who know her and is not a girl who would offer the slightest encouragement to a person like Tota, who evidently could not discriminate, and looked upon kindness as meaning that his attentions were accepted.

Who Tota Was

Both the principals in this Sabbath evening tragedy are well known in Victoria. Tota first came to Victoria about three years ago, and found employment in the Province Cigar factory, where he worked for about six months, and then left. About the middle of last year he returned to the city and was again employed at the cigar factory. He was an efficient workman and while his morose manner and the uncommunicative attitude
he assumed towards his fellow employees, prevented him forming any close friendships, he was generally well liked by the other workmen. His acquaintanceship with a brother of Miss Dodd, resulted in his securing a room in Mrs. Dodd's home on Fort street.
Even after he had gone to New Westminster, where he was employed in Lynch's cigar factory, and where he worked until last Saturday, he persistently pressed Miss Dodd to marry him.

Miss Dodd, who is nineteen years of age, has been a nurse in St. Joseph's hospital for the past two years, and is a great favorite. Of late she has been nurse in the surgical ward.

There will be an inquest this morning at 11 o'clock at the police court.
Dr. Hart, coroner, having ordered one.
It is probable that the local Cigarmakers' union will look after the final disposition of Tota's body, though no funeral arrangements have yet been made.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

An Appeal.

Sir—Only a few months ago a young Hindu laborer cut his leg while disembarking from an electric tramway. He was put into the Jubilee hospital and was treated there. Now, after a long time, he has not been able to get on his feet and he is unable to work and earn his livelihood here or send him back.
It requires more than one hundred dollars to help him to get on his feet and to the generous public of Victoria to help me in this cause. The least amount will be gratefully accepted.

John Cort, under whose management
"The Alaskan" was produced in this city on Friday and Saturday, has not forgotten the days of his residence in Victoria. Saturday was the King's birthday, and Mr. Cort knew how Victorians honor the King. On this account Manager Denham received a telegram at the Victoria theatre instructing the Alaskan company to sing the national anthem before the performance on Saturday night. This was done. It was also sung by the company at the close of the performance.

Don't Ruin Your Best Horse Going for a Doctor

Bowel complaints are always more or less prevalent during the Summer months, and many a man has ruined his best horse going for a doctor when some of his family was suffering from cramp colic or cholera morbus. Be prepared for such an emergency.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

Is the most successful medicine yet produced for these diseases and can always be depended upon. No doctor can prescribe a better medicine.
It is almost certain to be needed before the Summer is over. Buy it now.

will take place in Vancouver tomorrow.
It will be conveyed to the Terminal
City this evening by the Princess Victoria.

The late Mr. Brewster came here two weeks ago for special treatment for Bright's disease, but although all that medical skill could devise was done, the disease proved fatal. He was a native of Harvey, Alert county, N. B., and was 30 years of age. He came West two years ago, and has since lived in Seattle, where he was employed by the Great Northern Express Company. He is survived by a wife and four children. Three brothers reside upon the coast—H. C. Brewster, M. P. P. of this city, G. W.
Brewster of Ladners, with whom Gilbert Brewster, the father of the deceased gentleman resides, and J. H.
Brewster, of Seattle.

The body of the late David Moore was forwarded to San Francisco last evening for interment. Mr. Moore died at his residence in Victoria West Sunday night from heart disease. He arrived in the city but recently, and has been living on Powderly avenue. He was 74 years of age and a native of Oldham, Lancashire, England. Services were held in the rooms of the
B. C. Funeral Furnishing Company by Rev. C. E. Cooper.

The funeral of the late Miss Baillie took place Sunday afternoon from Hanna's undertaking parlors. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. Carson, assisted by Rev. Dr.
Reid. The following were the pallbearers: D. Spragge, J. Grimshaw,
A. Lewis, and W. Scowcroft.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Edward Murton took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, 16
Market street, to the Centennial Methodist church, where appropriate services were conducted by Rev. S. J.
Thompson. There was a large attendant of friends including the pupils of the North Ward school, in which Miss S. J. Murton, a daughter of the deceased, is a teacher, the gallery being specially reserved for them. The casket and hearse were covered by a profusion of beautiful flowers. During the service in the church, Rev. Mr.

Thompson took occasion to pay a warm
tribute to the memory of the late Mrs.
Murton, speaking of the blessing he himself had received through the lovely character of the deceased, whom it had been his privilege to visit. The pallbearers were: G. McGregor, F.
Ableson, E. J. Martin, R. Chapman,
William Perley and L. Tait.

Word was received last evening that Mrs. J. Sutcliffe, of Toronto, mother of Mrs. G. K. B. Adams, of the Metropolitan Methodist parsonage, had passed peacefully away after a lingering illness in that city about 10 o'clock. The late Mrs. Sutcliffe visited Victoria two years ago, spending a month with her daughter. She was 74 years of age, and leaves three sons and three daughters in Lindsay, Toronto and Oshawa.
The sons are located in Toronto and are engaged in the retail drygoods business.

MACKENZIE RIVER BASIN.

Information as to the breadth of the area in Canada available for agriculture continues to be multiplied. The Select Standing Committee of the House of Commons on Agriculture and Colonization brought out some very interesting facts during the last parliamentary session concerning the Mackenzie River basin, and a blue book has just been issued giving with other matter the evidence on this point. Among those whom the committee examined was Mr. Elihu Stewart, Dominion Superintendent of Forestry. The Athabasca and Great Slave lakes are united by the Slave river. Mr. Stewart sailed down the Slave to Great Slave lake and thence down the Mackenzie. Between the two lakes above mentioned there are serious rapids, which obstruct navigation, but below the rapids Mr. Stewart took a steamer and sailed north a distance of 1,300 miles. His observations of the land between the lakes was necessarily limited, but he said that he saw considerable that was good, with wheat growing in some places, but he declined to express any opinion as to what proportion of it would be fit for settlement. He made some interesting observations at Port Providence, which is in latitude 61 degrees, 25 minutes, or nearly 100 miles north of the northern boundary of British Columbia, and 550 miles north of Edmonton. Here he saw wheat in milk on July 15, the grain having been sown on May 20, and harvested in excellent condition on July 23; he also saw potatoes in blossom, peas fit for use, tomatoes, turnips, rhubarb, beets, cabbages, onions and other vegetables, all in good condition. Strawberries were ripe and raspberries, gooseberries and currants were coming along well. To understand what this means in respect to the broadening of the colonizable area of Canada, it must be borne in mind that, assuming the distance from the International Boundary line to Edmonton to be 9, the distance from Edmonton to Port Providence would be 15. In other words, Edmonton is only three-eighths of the distance north of the Boundary line that Port Providence is. Asked as to the area available for agriculture along the Mackenzie, Mr. Stewart again refused to commit himself on the ground that his observations were necessarily confined to the vicinity of the river; but he said: "The whole stretch of country along the Mackenzie river from Great Slave lake to the delta of the Mackenzie is nearly all alluvial soil, very similar in appearance to the soil of the Northwest prairie. Mr. Stewart also speaks of wheat having been successfully grown at Fort Simpson, which is close to the 62nd parallel. This post of the Hudson's Bay company is at the mouth of the Liard river. He was very cautious so as not to be misunderstood and said that he did not wish to be placed on record as saying that the whole region would produce wheat, and that it was possible that between the rivers there might be considerable muskeg, but he thought it likely that in every river valley there would be a great deal of alluvial soil. The favorable character of this region from an agricultural point of view is probably due to several causes. One of them is the low elevation, Fort Providence being less than 200 feet above sea level, although it is a thousand miles from the coast. Another is the long period of summer sunshine; another the abundance of moisture; another the potent effect of the winds from the Pacific ocean, which flow across the continent through the valleys of northern British Columbia.

Concerning the other resources of this area Mr. Stewart had some interesting things to say. He states that he found spruce, poplar and birch growing up to the delta of the Mackenzie, which is within the Arctic Circle. We quote: "I do not mean to say that there are any large timber limits so far north as that, but from the appearance of the timber lying on the bars of Great Slave lake and along Slave river and perhaps further down there, beyond where the Liard joins the Mackenzie, the size of the timber lying on the shores gave evidence that up these streams, that is up the Peace and the Liard, there must be very good timber. I saw spruce probably three feet at the butt, but many are smaller, drifted up on the shore. There was enough timber up along the bars and on the shores to run a large mill for a considerable time, several years. At Point Separation, which is at the delta of the Mackenzie, I saw timber trees from 16 to 18 inches in diameter." Mr. Stewart also observed the salt deposits of Salt river, which is a tributary of the Slave. He also spoke of the burning coal seams near the junction of Great Bear river with the Mackenzie. This coal was burning in 1798, when Sir Alexander Mackenzie explored the country, and how long before that no one knows. He is very strongly of the opinion that extensive deposits of petroleum will yet be discovered in the region drained by the Athabasca.

It may be interesting to mention that the area of the Mackenzie basin, that is of the region drained by this great river and its tributaries, is 451,000 square miles, or more than three times the area drained by the Saskatchewan and its tributaries. Not many years ago this was regarded as a great waste land, but evidence is increasing that it will yet become the home of a large population. In the corresponding parts of Russia millions of people dwell. Fort Providence is less than 100 miles further north than St. Petersburg and all Finland lies north of the 60th parallel. Let us illustrate what this means in another way. Merchantable timber grows and ordinary vegetables can be successfully cultivated as far north of the International Boundary as the Gulf of Mexico is south of it. In other words colonizable Canada is as broad as the United States.

THE DECEASED WIFE'S SISTER

The justification for disturbing the repose of this much-discussed lady is the fact that the Archbishop of Canterbury has written a letter on the subject for the guidance of the English clergy. The Primate does not hold with those extreme churchmen, who take the position that canonical law is superior to statute law in the obligations imposed by it upon the clergy. He thinks that the position of the clergy is discretionary. They are at perfect liberty to solemnize the marriages, made legal by the new Act, if they choose, but he believes "they will act wisely and rightly if they say that such marriages ought to take place somewhere else than in the church." He gives this advice because he does not think marriages with a deceased wife's sister should be "facilitated" by the clergy of the Church of England, for he thinks they are "ecclesiastically irregular," and because he holds that the church is "bound to give respectful and careful consideration to the sentiment of those men and women who, in thousands of parishes, are devoting time and strength to the furtherance of whatsoever things are pure and lovely and of good report." At the same time he does not wish to be understood as prescribing any rule, and he says that if a clergyman after carefully considering all the circumstances decides to perform these marriages in his church, "I shall in no way regard him as disloyal or disrespectful because of the decision to which he has come."

The Archbishop says that there is no justification for withholding the Holy Communion from persons who may have married under the provisions of the Act, since its passage, and, with regard to Christian burial, "it will not be seriously contended by responsible men that on account of a marriage of this kind such refusal would be right or even possible." He exhorts all the clergy to endeavor to make the new law work without bitterness or friction. He expresses his very hearty appreciation of the manner in which the government have dealt with what he regards as "a difficult and delicate question," and closes with this excellent advice:

"On the one hand, the clergy must not be pressed to surrender what seem to many of us to be important principles; on the other hand, they must respect the deliberate convictions of other men, and must abstain from exaggeration or overstrong action or speech, even in regard to marriages of which they earnestly disapprove contracted in pursuance of an Act which they deplore. They exhort and communicate those who have conscientiously availed themselves of the Act would be, in my judgment, both unreasonable and unjust."

THE KAISER IN ENGLAND

The Emperor of Germany is paying a visit to his uncle, better known as Edward VII. Time was when visits of monarchs to each other set the whole world on tiptoe of expectation, but as a rule they are not looked upon nowadays as of great importance. Rather more than usual interest, however, attaches to the visit of the Kaiser, for the reason that he has not been any too well affected towards the King. If these differences were simply a family disagreement, the public could afford to disregard them, but the German Emperor is a survival in some respects of mediæval absolutism. His word may not be law in his empire, but it is exceedingly influential. For some time past the comments of German public men and newspapers upon Great Britain have not been very cordial, not to say unfriendly, and their spirit has not been mollified in any appreciable degree by the fact the King has been playing a quasi-diplomatic role with an enviable degree of success. It is also probable that the German authorities from the Kaiser down do not deceive themselves into thinking that Britain's relative strength on the sea has been at all diminished, and while they profess to look upon the British army as a negligible quantity, they have doubtless not forgotten their history lessons, and remember that this army never was supposed by Continental authorities to amount to much, and yet it was able in Spain to give Napoleon his first great check and afterwards end his career at Waterloo. Newspaper writers, and especially those who prepare matter for consumption in the United States, may forget these things, but if even they will stop to think a little they will be puzzled to find an occasion when the greatest military powers were at all eager to try conclusions with this supposed negligible British army. We are also safe in giving the Kaiser credit for being actuated by higher motives than those of a mere poseur. If he had wanted military glory, he has had many chances to see what his army was made of, and yet it must be said of him that he has employed the great military machine, which is at his command, without creating even the slightest European complication. He is a monarch, with great power, a large estimate of his own importance and a somewhat egotistic faith in his country, but he is at the same time a Christian gentleman, and why may we not believe that he is inspired by motives worthy of such an one? For our own part, we believe the Kaiser comes to England with the best motives, that he is truly desirous of having the British people think well of him and that he has been influenced to make his present visit to some extent by the hope that it will beget a better feeling between the people over whom he rules and those over whom his royal uncle reigns.

We are glad to see that Mr. Ralph Smith seems inclined to favor the passage of a statute by the Canadian Parliament similar to the Natal Act. The member from Nanaimo appreciates the force of the Colonist's contention.

It is rare indeed that Victoria papers are called upon to chronicle a tragedy such as is told in the Colonist this morning. The unfortunate young lady is held in high esteem by all who know her, and news of her recovery will be very welcome.

A former Victorian, now a resident of Vancouver, says that the condition of Government street is injuring the city very much. As he points out, the first impression that people get of the city is from that street, and hence immediate steps ought to be taken to put it in first class repair.

A private letter from the East says that the general opinion there is that the financial stringency is very nearly at an end. The Seattle Times had a telegram on Sunday from an Eastern capitalist to Mr. James A. Moore, in which the statement was made that the banks would resume payment in coin and currency in about ten days.

The native press of India is growing very abusive of the British government. One very widely circulated journal says that British rule has brought the country to ruin, and that before the British came there was no cholera, plague, small-pox or malaria in the land. The English papers published in India unite in expressing the strongest approval of Mr. Morley's course as Secretary of State.

From the announcement just made that one hundred applications have thus far been received for domestic help by the immigration department of the Salvation Army from different parts of British Columbia, all doubt would seem to be removed as to the success of the experiment undertaken by the provincial government in co-operating with the Army to relieve the labor shortage.

As it is for a most worthy object, namely, the benefit of the Protestant Orphanage, we trust that a generous measure of support will be accorded the chrysanthemum show to be held at the Carnegie library on Thursday and Friday of this week. Not only does the floral display promise to be the best of the kind ever attempted, but the programme of entertainment is more than usually attractive.

We are in receipt of a letter headed "Victoria, the Slothful," with a request from the writer, who signs his name to his private letter, that we shall print it. We would not decline to do so, if the writer had signed the letter, which he wishes published, and, in that case, we would have pointed out some of the errors into which he has fallen. If he will authorize us to print his letter over his proper signature, we shall do so. As he says he is a recent arrival, he is probably not aware of the rule of this paper not to print anonymous communications.

The news that the Cunard Line is about to enter into arrangements with the Grand Trunk Pacific to put lines of steamships on both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans in connection with that railway comes as a surprise, for it has always been taken for granted that the Allans would take up this work. It was so given out two years ago when Mr. Allan visited the coast in company with the Messrs Hays and Morse. The Cunards are a powerful concern, probably the greatest of all the companies engaged in trans-Atlantic transportation. It is not as well known as it ought to be that this company had its birth in Nova Scotia.

Mr. A. Muir Wilson, of Sheffield, Eng., with whom we had an interesting interview on Sunday, believes that the many complaints which are heard about the scarcity of capital to develop our great resources are due to the ignorance of the English capitalist—not the speculative capitalist, but those who have large amounts lying idle, which could, with great profit, be invested in the Dominion. We are sorry that Mr. Kipling did not include this class in his famous "dump them in" order. But we will get their attention in time. Canada is looming larger in the eye of the investing public than ever before in her history, and visits from just such gentlemen as Mr. Wilson will hasten the period when we shall have no cause to complain of being neglected on that score.

If British Columbia does not desist from its habit of winning most of the prizes at the international fruit exhibits in Great Britain, competitors may soon be forced to adopt the expedient of calling off the contests, and to save time and trouble suggest that further efforts from this province be "taken as read." Seriously, however, it is really surprising that we have been able to maintain such a high record in competitions with all comers in Great Britain, indicating, as it does, that our climatic advantages in respect to the raising of fruit have been supplemented by the highest skill on the part of our producers. We congratulate them and the provincial government on this latest splendid achievement.

An announcement of special interest and importance is to the effect that at the seventh annual session of the Grand Camp of the Arctic Brotherhood at Tacoma, which adjourned on Saturday afternoon, a decision was reached to meet next year in Victoria. It is stated that there was hard competition between San Francisco and this city for the honor, therefore the compliment paid to Victoria is all the greater. The Arctic Brotherhood is one of the most important fraternal organizations in Western America. Not only is the membership very large, but it embraces most of the influential mining men of Yukon and Alaska. It will thus be seen that we are very fortunate in respect to the choice which has been made for the next convention; and we are sure that the community will respond to the pleasing duty which will be imposed upon it of arranging a programme of entertainment which will be adequate to the occasion.

A most welcome and hopeful sign of the times is that the leaders of thought throughout the world are giving serious attention to the problem of devising ways and means for the promotion of industrial peace. A new and important movement to this end has just been launched at Washington in the organization of what is called the Industrial Peace Foundation, which embraces in its membership some of the most prominent men in the United States. The initial efforts of the society will be directed to the examination of the various measures which are on the statute books of all nations aiming at establishing harmonious relations between employer and employee, but the hope is held that ultimately the organization will develop into the most efficient body in any country in the world for the promotion of industrial peace. This most laudable effort will elicit the heartiest sympathy and co-operation from public opinion everywhere.

At the inaugural banquet of the new Lord Mayor of London on Saturday, Sir John Fisher, senior naval lord of the Admiralty, made an extremely interesting statement as to the readiness of the navy for all emergencies. He pointed out that in the recent North Sea manoeuvres there were gathered together twenty-six of the finest battleships in the world, and twenty-six cruisers, many of the latter being superior to any foreign battleship—and even this great fleet represented only a fraction of Great Britain's naval power. Then, it was to be remembered that the gunnery and general efficiency of the fleet surpassed all records to the extent of constituting a matter for the wonder and admiration of all. This ought to have the effect of giving the quietus to the nervous element who have been predicting all sorts of dire misfortune owing to the unpreparedness of the navy. Sir John concluded his speech by tendering a word of advice to these people, saying, "Don't be disturbed by the bogie of invasion. One might as well talk of embarking St. Paul's cathedral on a penny steamer, as embarking one hundred thousand German soldiers to invade England." Not the least interested among the auditors on whose ears this will fall are the Kaiser and Prince Von Bulow, who are today guests of King Edward.

The London Economist, in an article discussing corruption in connection with the management of Northwest lands, concludes with a doleful shake of the head that "the whole business is very desperate. The worst of it is that the people apparently love to have it so." This is a typically distorted view of conditions in Canada which a large number of British journalists seem unable to avoid. No section of the Canadian people are disposed to minimize in the slightest the gravity of the charges which have been preferred in connection with the matter to which the Economist alludes, but it is entirely unwarranted and illegitimate to conclude that "the whole business is very desperate," or that "the worst of it is that the people apparently love to have it so." Because some few men in public life have stooped to questionable methods to enrich themselves at the expense of the public, it does not follow that national honor and integrity are imperilled. As for the statement that "the people like to have it so," this is a piece of gratuitous impertinence which could only have emanated from some one who supposes that the moral atmosphere of the "colonies" is always inferior to what obtains "at home." It may be quite true that Canada is not yet living on the high moral plane which is the ideal of her people, but the situation is in no wise "desperate"—on the contrary, we believe that as a community we shall compare favorably with any other on the face of the globe when weighed in the balance for a test of national rectitude.

FRENCH COUNTESS HAS AN INTERESTING TRIP

Accompanied Only by Indians She Travels Through Country North of Edmonton

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 11.—Countess de St. Pierre, of Paris, now a guest at the Hotel Vancouver, recently completed a remarkable trip through the vast regions north of Edmonton. Sleds, canoes, steamboats and horses enabled her to traverse a distance exceeding 1,750 miles. Her thrilling hunting experiences, and hazardous achievement of shooting angry rapids, and general impressions of the country will be recorded in a forthcoming series of illustrated articles. The camera enabled her to secure hundreds of excellent pictures. For weeks the countess had no other companions than her Indian guides and their squaws. In accordance with her promise she will send a brief account of her journey to President Roosevelt, who in bidding her good-bye in Washington last April, gave her valuable suggestions respecting the firearms. "Take a Winchester 30-30," for it is a serviceable weapon, and you will probably be able to secure cartridges at any Hudson Bay post if your supply runs short," was one of his suggestions.

Countess de St. Pierre is an authoress of considerable repute. A member of one of the old Royalist families, she spends much of her time in travel. Her work on the monuments of the Incas, material for which was gained by careful research in the wilds of Ecuador, is regarded highly by savants and archaeologists. From Vancouver she went to California, the southwestern states and Mexico in search of fresh literary material. On her way home she will pay her respects to President Roosevelt.

"Starting from Edmonton on July 26 I proceeded overland to Athabasca Landing, and from there sailed down the Athabasca river to Lake Athabasca, ascended the Peace river to Peace River Crossing and then returned practically by a new route via Lesser Slave lake and several waterways," said the intrepid Frenchwoman in describing the itinerary before going into fuller details. "I was amazed at the excellence of the accommodation on the wood scow, by which I made the run down the Athabasca river. The fleet is owned by Jim Woods, a celebrated voyager in that region. The descent of the Grand Rapids was one of the most exciting experiences I ever enjoyed. Just think of it! Our scow made the run of half a mile through the angry waters in exactly five minutes. The craft had previously been lightened of its cargo, which was portaged on land around the rapids by the halfbreed crew. On reaching Fort McMurray I hired Indian guides and went on a five days' bear hunt, but I had a few shots, an experience I was not to enjoy when hunting with another tribe at a later stage of my journey. I made a clean miss at one bear, but wounded two others as was evidenced by the trail of blood. As we had no dogs we decided not to take any chances of an encounter at close range.

"At Fort McMurray I abandoned the scow and my picturesque boatmen, and sailed down the river to Athabasca lake in the Hudson's Bay company's steamboat. Thence transferring to the little steamer of the Hudson's Bay company, I sailed along the lake before ascending the Peace river to Rapids Abeyer, a distance of about eighty miles. Hiring Indian guides I then voyaged in canoes farther up the river to Peace river and Crossing, stopping at Peace River Crossing, where we were again compelled to portage around the famous cascades or rapids on the lower Peace. The river falls fifteen or twenty feet in the distance of a mile. The sight of the turbulent waters barbed with rocks and sunken reefs was an impressive one.

"The scenery throughout was indescribably grand, and various natural phenomena also thrilled my imagination. On the lower Peace and Athabasca the high clay banks, with their nests in the high clay banks, which they nest in there literally in myriads and when in flight actually darken the sun. I was

DARK BROWN TASTE

Your Head Aches
Tongue Is Sore
Mouth Tastes Bad
Stomach Is Sick

The Gastric Juices Are Not Doing Their Duty and You're in the Grip of Nervous Dyspepsia

A hot bitter fluid, and sour indigestible food rise in your mouth. Your vision is crossed with specks that float before the eyes.

Very shortly you'll have nausea, rank breath, and sleepless nights.

What you need is Ferrozone. It regulates the gastric juices, puts new life into the stomach, braces digestive powers, gives the aid that's so badly required.

Ferrozone is the best treatment because it goes to the root of the trouble, remedies the conditions that cause dyspepsia and thereby cures permanently.

If you want proof, read the experience of Mr. E. P. Davidson, a well known resident of Portland, who writes: "Ferrozone is beyond doubt a most powerful cure for indigestion and weak stomach. Food so badly disagreed with me that I was almost afraid to eat. Pastry and starchy foods fermented, caused sour risings and gave me headaches, brown tinge and offensive breath. I grew weak, my weight ran down fifteen pounds and my looks fully indicated all that was wrong. Ferrozone put me on my feet again. It braced me up, renewed my digestion and made me a well man."

fortunate enough to secure photos of their nesting places. Of course, I had no little amusement with my traveling companions. From Iron Arm, the Wood Cree chief who acted as chief guide, I learned a lesson respecting their attitude towards women. On a very warm day when we were all cramped I invited him to lunch with me in my tent. Much to my surprise he refused, explaining that it was beneath the dignity of an Indian to eat in company of women. Well, I then left him to smelter in the burning rays of the August sun. En route to Peace river, crossing the river presents a beautiful and imposing spectacle. It is dotted with islands covered with spruce. I counted 114 of them between Vermilion and the crossing. At the last mentioned place I found myself in a veritable earthly paradise where, despite the high latitude, the climate is tempered by the Chinook winds. The white settlers are very prosperous. In September the weather was warm and I saw ripening fields of wheat which were untouched by frost. I also saw pumpkins weighing over 40 pounds, as well as delicious ripe tomatoes and sweet corn.

"From there I went on a ten days' hunting trip. The Indians, however, would only undertake to accompany me on condition that I would agree not to shoot any game. I reluctantly agreed. It seems there is a legend among the tribe that a famous medicine man or chief years ago warned the Indians never to permit a woman to shoot a moose or a bear. He predicted that if his warning were disregarded game would become scarce and that every squaw would become powerful physically and would become husband-beaters. My appearance on the scene revived the legend and they saw in me the verification of the prophecy of the long departed medicine man.

"So, I made the best of a bad bargain, and had to go while the Indians did the shooting. In three days they killed five moose and one bear. My excitement was aroused and I asked to be released from my promise, even agreeing to pay them $10 for every shot I fired. But in vain, the ancient prophecy was an insuperable obstacle to the realization of my wishes. The Indians are very expert in woodcraft. By means of a cornucopia shaped object, made out of birch bark, they imitate the calls of the bull moose. In this manner they succeeded in getting the animals to approach within a hundred yards. My request to photo living game was also refused, so I had to content myself with 'snap-shooting' the inanimate trophies.

Before the journey back from the hunting grounds the Indians after a big snow-storm, which was giving me permission to shoot crows. They must have realized that the privilege was worthless as we did not see one of those animals. After killing the moose the Indians had a great feast. The bucks and squaws always dine apart, as the former regard the women as one of the most exciting experiences I ever enjoyed. Just think of it! Our scow made the run of half a mile through the angry waters in exactly five minutes. The craft had previously been lightened of its cargo, which was portaged on land around the rapids by the halfbreed crew. On reaching Fort McMurray I hired Indian guides and went on a five days' bear hunt, but I had a few shots, an experience I was not to enjoy when hunting with another tribe at a later stage of my journey. I made a clean miss at one bear, but wounded two others as was evidenced by the trail of blood. As we had no dogs we decided not to take any chances of an encounter at close range.

"At Fort McMurray I abandoned the scow and my picturesque boatmen, and sailed down the river to Athabasca lake in the Hudson's Bay company's steamboat. Thence transferring to the little steamer of the Hudson's Bay company, I sailed along the lake before ascending the Peace river to Rapids Abeyer, a distance of about eighty miles. Hiring Indian guides I then voyaged in canoes farther up the river to Peace river and Crossing, stopping at Peace River Crossing, where we were again compelled to portage around the famous cascades or rapids on the lower Peace. The river falls fifteen or twenty feet in the distance of a mile. The sight of the turbulent waters barbed with rocks and sunken reefs was an impressive one.

"The scenery throughout was indescribably grand, and various natural phenomena also thrilled my imagination. On the lower Peace and Athabasca the high clay banks, with their nests in the high clay banks, which they nest in there literally in myriads and when in flight actually darken the sun. I was

"I was greatly impressed with the great future of the vast region I traversed. Some day it will team with a contented, happy white population, as there are vast tracts available for cultivation. The country also abounds in mineral wealth. Natural gas aflame for years is issuing from a hole in the ground near Pelican rapids on the Middle Athabasca. It was discovered when oil boring operations were in progress. At night it flares up the country for miles, and enabled me to read a newspaper in an Indian village half a mile distant. On the lower Athabasca I met Count Von Hammerstein, who is drilling for coal oil. He told me that he had already encountered some oil and feels confident of tapping a gusher. The surface indications are excellent. Here and there I noticed an oily scum floating on the river. When ignited it will burn. For miles along the banks of the river can be seen asphalt or mineral tar. These are good indications of oil and merit serious investigation. Fort Vermilion was the most northerly point reached. At Peace River crossing the cattle are left on the ranges all winter. In the same locality at Spirit river a flourishing colony of English settlers, established a few years ago, are raising excellent crops. They also own large bands of cattle. At the crossing I was informed that a herd of wild horses ranged in the country at the headwaters of the Peace river. They number hundreds and are the descendants of horses which escaped from the Hudson's Bay company many years ago. These animals are said to be very wild and ferocious. An effort was made to round them up last winter, but with little success. Aided by the deep snow the Indians managed to run down four of these animals which are led by a gigantic stallion. Two of them are now at the fort, but the other two could not be subdued and were given their liberty."

DECLARES DIVORCES ARE ALL ILLEGAL

Startling Judgment is Given by Justice Clement at Vancouver

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 11.—The validity of every divorce granted in British Columbia during the past thirty-five or six years, or to be exact, ever since this province entered confederation, has been cast into question by a decision of Mr. Justice Clement in the action of Mrs. Watts versus Watts. In this judgment the learned judge questions the jurisdiction of the courts of British Columbia in matters of divorce, and, at the request of all counsel concerned, the entering of judgment has been stayed pending the submission of a stated case to the Full Court by the Attorney General of British Columbia. This appeal will be hurried along. Incidentally, when the judgment is entered the case of Watts versus Watts will be dismissed without costs.

The point respecting the jurisdiction of the British Columbia courts in matters of divorce was raised when the petition of Mrs. Watts for divorce was being heard a few months ago. Mr. Justice Clement himself calling attention to the question. It was then decided that argument by counsel on the point of jurisdiction should take place before the petition went any further.

The provincial government, whose divorce laws were called into question, and the Dominion government, which deals with Canadian divorce laws, were notified of the peculiar situation and requested to appoint counsel to be heard at the argument. The Dominion government replied that it would take the matter up and that was the last heard from Ottawa; the provincial government appointed Charles Wilson, K.C., to act and other counsel represented in the argument were J. A. Russell, for the petitioner, and C. M. Woodworth, for the respondent. The costs of the argument, it is understood, were borne by the provincial government as it was considered unfair that the costs should be saddled upon the principals in the action, the hearing of which had brought the jurisdiction of the provincial courts into question.

Argument took place Friday. Charles Wilson, counsel for provincial government, agreeing with the Dominion government that the courts have jurisdiction. If the decision of Judge Clement is upheld, the likelihood is that remedial legislation making legal all divorces heretofore granted will be passed.

Stricken With Paralysis

Vancouver, Nov. 11.—Mrs. Cope, widow of the late Fred Cope, Mayor of Vancouver, a number of years ago, is very ill at her home on Robson street. Her friends fear that she will not recover. Yesterday morning it was found that such must be very ill, for she had not appeared and as her door was locked, it had to be broken open. She was found unconscious and is suffering from a stroke of paralysis.

Result of Poisoned Milk

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 11.—A particularly sad death occurred this morning in the passing away of the youngest child of Mr. R. W. Harris. Only a few weeks ago, Mr. Harris's son, a boy of about six years of age, also died. Death this morning removed the only remaining child and particular sympathy is felt for the grief-stricken parents. Several months ago, the Harris family was living at Eburne when they were supplied with milk which had in some unfortunate manner been poisoned. Mrs. Harris and the two children became ill and the little ones never recovered from the effects.

Sudden Deaths at Vancouver

Vancouver, Nov. 11.—Two sudden deaths from heart failure occurred in Vancouver on Sunday morning. Charles Stuart, Bidwell street was perfectly well on Saturday, but on Sunday morning felt rather ill. At 9 o'clock he took a bad turn and died in a few minutes. He was superintendent for the Pacific Coast Sawmill Co.'s mill and very well liked, and much liked. Mrs. Stuart is now in California.

Almost at the same hour on Sunday morning, Mrs. Maria Hicks, aged 76, died at the family residence, 865 Howe street. She took a fainting spell and died in a few minutes. She was a native of Ontario and leaves three sons and three daughters.

Officer of Blue Funnel Liner Had Opium and Stayed at Singapore.

When the steamer Telemachus was on her way to Liverpool the chief steward, Andrew Jones, was left at Singapore. It seems that when the steward was taken into a rikisha at the Tanjong Pagar dock gate, he dropped a suspicious-looking tin. A vigilant constable arrested him, and he was found to be in possession of illicit opium valued at $150. Mr. Jones said that he was asked by a Chinese storekeeper to take the "chandu" ashore. When a search was made for the storekeeper, he could not be found. Mr. Jones, the second magistrate, fined Mr. Jones a thousand dollars next morning or three months' imprisonment in default of payment.

The steamer Fitzpatrick leaves Astoria this morning for Comox with wheat for England and will load coal at Comox.

FIREMEN PETITION FOR INCREASED PAY

Members of Department Set Fourth Reasons Why Advance is Required

The members of the city fire department have petitioned the council for an increase in pay. At last night's meeting of the council a lengthy petition, setting forth the reasons for asking for this increase was presented, and by all the members of the department and approved by Fire Chief Thomas Watson.

Alderman Fullerton pointed out that in view of the fact that the estimates have been already passed for the present year the petition would have to be held over to be dealt with by the incoming council. This was the opinion of the other members of the council and the petition, in the meantime, was received and filed and referred to the incoming council for favorable consideration. The petition follows:

Gentlemen:—We, the undersigned members of the Fire Department, respectfully ask you for an increase of pay.

We would point out that the cost of living has increased fully one-third during the past twelve months. This applies also to rents, and the latter item presses very heavily upon married members, who are required to live in close proximity to the Halls. These conditions render it almost impossible to make ends meet.

We would further point out that under the present regulations we are to use our uniforms for dress purposes only, and we are therefore put to a heavy expense to provide clothing for use at fires, the same being in many instances quickly ruined beyond further use. You can therefore appreciate that this item alone is a very heavy drain upon our salaries.

There are now six members of the department receiving $55 per month, with long hours and no inducements for the future. This sum represents all they have to live upon, and in view of the conditions outlined above they have absolutely nothing left for reserve.

We might, in passing, recall the fact that the department has already lost a number of good men, including two captains, who have left to secure more lucrative employment and shorter hours. This militates strongly against the efficiency of the department and the personnel cannot be maintained as it should be.

Further, it is respectfully urged that you establish such a scale of pay as will offer an inducement for capable men to remain with the department. The present regulations permit of a raise in pay or a promotion only upon a vacancy higher up in the ranks, and this fact acts as a strong deterrent upon men who would otherwise be willing to remain and work up to the higher rate given for long service.

We would respectfully suggest that the scale be a sliding one up to the third year, when the firemen should receive the maximum pay. This scale would offer advantages over the one in vogue, which, if continued, will most probably bring the department into such a state of inefficiency and demoralization as will involve a much larger sum for re-organization than would be necessary to prevent such a condition.

Lost in the Woods

Dr. Todd, A. E. Todd and Mr. Gillespie had a rather awkward experience on Sunday night. They had been spending the day in the woods in the neighborhood of 17-Mile post when darkness coming on they lost their way and were compelled to spend the night in the woods without cover. Lightly clad, they found the experience decidedly uncomfortable.

Fell Out of Saloon

S. Ballinger last evening fell from the first story window of the Light-house saloon, Store street, while under the influence of liquor. Hindu Religious Meeting

The first religious meeting of the Hindu community of this city was held last Sunday at the Y. M. C. A., quite a large number attending. G. D. Kumar, the Indian religious worker, gave some good sound advice to the audience suited for their particular benefit, such as to live neat and clean, to keep their houses in proper order, to learn the English language, without which they are sorely handicapped, and to avoid intemperance, the dangers of which the speaker emphasized. He spoke for fully an hour and his remarks seemed to strike his hearers forcibly. Mr. Kumar intended to open a night school for his countrymen, and he expects to meet with a ready response from them. The religious meetings in the Y. M. C. A. will be held regularly. General Secretary A. J. Brace, of the Y. M. C. A., having kindly consented to grant the use of the room free of charge.

Office Will Be Here

The offices of the Dominion government hydrographic survey upon the Pacific coast will be located in this city during the coming winter. Hitherto the drafting and other office work which has followed the field work of the summer has been performed at Ottawa. The latter year has been discontinued owing to the prevailing high winds which make work impossible. The harbor of Prince Rupert has been the principal scene of the operations. It has been found to be a good harbor, offering good anchorage, the depth at the proposed roads running from 10 to 30 fathoms. The highest tide, the spring tide, is but 17 feet. Capt. Musgrave has returned to the city from the north.

MEETING NEXT WEEK TO ELECT DELEGATES

Prospects for Conservative Convention in Vancouver Very Bright

A meeting of the executive of the Conservative Association of this city will be held this evening to arrange for a meeting of the organizations to elect delegates to the convention in Vancouver on November 22 and 23. The meeting will in all probability be held Wednesday evening, November 20.

Great enthusiasm has been manifested by the Conservative associations throughout the province and all have expressed their heartfelt approval of the proposed convention and the object which has elicited its convocation.

Replies have been received from many parts of the province and in many centres the delegates have already been elected.

Vancouver Island is certain of a good representation. In addition to the forty-four delegates from this city there will be delegates from Cowichan, Esquimalt, Comox, and Alberni. The success of the convention is assured.

Hon. R. P. Roblin, premier of Manitoba may be induced to attend Hon. F. W. G. Haultain, leader of the opposition in Saskatchewan and formerly premier of the territories may also be present.

The various Conservative associations have been looking forward to the approaching Dominion election with great confidence and it is felt that the convention will place a very important organization in such a position that an overwhelming Conservative victory will be assured.

Will Meet Today.

The council of the board of trade will hold a meeting this morning prior to the regular meeting on Thursday. It will consider the reports of sub-committees before their presentation to the full board.

NEW MAP PREPARED OF UPPER INTERIOR

Provincial Government Issues One Prepared by Father Morice

A map of the northern interior of British Columbia prepared by Rev. Father A. G. Morice, O. M. I., has been issued by the chief commissioner of lands and works. The map will fill a long felt need. The maps of the interior hitherto in use covered too great an area, and were not full enough in detail to be of much practical use to the prospector. The new map is very complete. It was originally intended to accompany the history written by Father Morice, and gives in detail the country lying, roughly speaking, between the upper Skeena, the Fraser and the upper Nechako.

The map of the country in the neighborhood of Babine and Stewart lakes, the Bulkley and other valleys should prove of great service to prospective settlers. The character of the country is described upon the map.

NOBLE SHRINERS ARE TO INVAD THE CITY

Will Be Guests of Gizeh Temple at a "Ceremonial Session"

To participate in an annual event which has come to be regarded as the piece of resistance of all fraternal gatherings, Victoria this week will be invaded by a distinguished body of visitors, members of the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine—a Masonic organization whose chief aim is to prevent, so far as may be possible, life being taken too seriously.

A "ceremonial session" will be held on Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock, and at 11 o'clock a banquet will be served at "Headquarters," Dominion hotel.

Noble E. E. Leeson, the recorder who was entrusted with the task of arranging most of the details of the event, anticipates an unusually large attendance. There will be candidates present from Cranbrook, Fernie, Cumberland, Kelowna and Revelstoke, and invitations have been accepted from Shriners as far distant as Spokane, Calgary and Portland.

Mr. Leeson has scored a veritable triumph in one detail of the arrangements which were left in his hands—by preparing what is pronounced by all who have inspected them the most beautiful and artistic invitation cards ever issued in Western America for a function of this sort. The cover has a special design showing the "temple," in the portal of which appears in red the "fex" worn by all members of the order. Above, just indicated, is the emblem of the Shrine, the Shriners' badge. This is embossed in gold, with an ornamental inset of pearl, constituting the most unique and prettiest thing of the kind which has yet been seen in Victoria.

These invitation cards were executed to Mr. Leeson's order by the Colonist Printing & Publishing company.

A reception committee, made up of all nobles of Gizeh Temple, will greet the visitors, most of whom are expected to reach the city by Thursday evening, and the general arrangements for the event are in the hands of the executive committee which consists of illustrious Nobles A. F. Armstrong, illustrious Noble A. F. Forbes, Noble James H. Greer, Noble Stephen Jones, and Noble E. E. Leeson.

PAPERS DISCUSSING MR. LEMIEUX'S VISIT

Japanese Press at Variance on Reception Minister Will Receive

Japanese newspapers received by the R.M.S. Empress of India discuss the expected visit of Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux, expected to reach Tokio today or tomorrow, some affirming that the government of Japan will never consent to the restriction of immigration; others that the advances of the Canadian minister will be received in a conciliatory spirit. The Japan Gazette says: "In connection with the visit to Japan of Canadian Minister Lemieux of Labour, it is reiterated in Tokio government circles that Japan will not consent to the conclusion of a formal agreement for the restriction of immigrants. But we believe that the government will deal with any Canadian proposal in a most conciliatory way."

The Japan Chronicle of Kobe says: "It is difficult to understand exactly what Sir Wilfrid meant by the statement attributed to him that Canada became a party to the Japanese treaty—that is, of course, the Treaty of Commerce between Canada and Japan—because it was thought Japan prohibited general immigration to Canada. At the time of the first anti-Japanese outbreak in British Columbia the Japanese government certainly did take steps to limit the inflow of coolies from this country, but it is not easy to see on what grounds it could have been thought that any law had been established by which immigration from Japan to Canada would be restricted. Had the Canadian government approached the Japanese government on the matter it is not improbable that the legislative measure of some kind might have been formulated by which the influx of Japanese might have been so regulated as to obviate the difficulty that has now arisen. The Ottawa government must have been fully cognizant of the feeling that has existed in British Columbia, and with the San Francisco convention in view, it would certainly seem that it was the duty of Canada, especially in view of the Anglo-Japanese and the Commercial treaties—to have taken some means to prevent such occurrences as the recent riots at Vancouver. Instead of this, Japanese coolies enticed and persuaded by immigration agents in this country, have been pouring into British Columbia in hundreds, whereas if their immigration had been carried out by a gradual process probably they would have attracted but little notice. They would have found positions, and their competition with the white laborers would not have been severely felt. As we realize this at the time of the recent disturbance in Vancouver, the knowledge that every boat from the Orient was bringing to their shores four or five hundred coolies was doubtless the main cause of the trouble. This constant and ever increasing inflow was the means of inflaming the alarm which had long existed among the white laborers into open revolt, and the agitators who come from elsewhere to encourage them in their campaign found their task by no means a difficult one."

"We urged in our last article dealing with this question that as one means of meeting this great evil, the Japanese government should place greater restrictions on the immigration companies, who must have been the most substantial gainers by the recent increase in the number of immigrants to the Pacific coast, and it is satisfactory to note—as recently mentioned in our columns—that the government has at last placed almost prohibitory restrictions on the agents contracting for the sending of coolies to Hawaii. If it may be regarded as improbable that the new restrictions will have any material effect at present, their inauguration is certainly a step in the right direction. It will be remembered that it has been customary for Japanese immigration companies to deposit with the government a quarter of their capital as a guarantee of good faith, the number of immigrants sent out by each company being assigned according to the amount of money so deposited. By the new regulations each company, whether large or small, has to deposit the sum of 50,000 yen. This will, of course, mean that many of the companies will be compelled to cease business entirely, and we do not think Japan will be the loser by this. It is well known that many of these agencies have been the means of persuading young men to leave the agricultural districts of Japan for foreign lands, notwithstanding often that their services are badly required in their own district. Perhaps even more important than the heavy deposit now required is the notification which the immigration companies have received that not more than thirty-five immigrants—eighteen males and seventeen females—may be sent to Hawaii in future by all the agencies combined. These restrictions come into force today, and if they are strictly carried out an important step will have been advanced in the solution—for the time being at any rate—of this most difficult problem."

That Japanese labor is wanted and can find perfect benefit of Canada at large is admitted by many Canadians, and there can be little doubt on this point; but, as stated, a great mistake has been made since the war in overdoing the immigration."

AUDIENCE UNMOVED BY FIRE IN THEATRE

Slight Blaze on Stage at Grand Extinguished Without Excitement

It takes a little more than an odor of burning wood and rubber, a little smoke and an announcement of fire to stampede a Victoria audience. Patrons of the New Grand Theatre Saturday afternoon were afforded a turn not on the bill in the shape of a fire on the stage, but though there was a big attendance of both sexes the audience sat unmoved through it all.

The incident, which for the coolness of Manager Jamieson might have proved serious, happened during the progress of the little playlet "One Christmas Eve," which is presented so cleverly by Herbert Breman and Helen Downing. An odor of burning rubber and wood was distinctly noticeable in the atmosphere of the house, and Manager Jamieson, who was in his usual position at the door of the box office noticed it almost as soon as any in the audience. In order not to alarm the more timid in the audience, he walked leisurely down the aisle to the stage entrance and entered quietly. Once behind the footlights he soon discovered the cause of the trouble in the drop light which was being used over the front of the stage. Stepping out in full view of the audience, Mr. Jamieson interrupted the action of the playlet and in a few short re-assuring sentences informed the audience that there was a little fire on the stage and asked their indulgence for a few minutes till it was extinguished.

The announcement was received calmly by the audience and nobody moved while the asbestos curtain was lowered and steps taken to extinguish the flames. A couple of minutes later the curtain was partially raised while the burning light was lowered in order that the audience might see how little danger there was. It was still smoking, but a few drops of water sufficed to drown the smouldering embers. A defective insulation was the cause of the fire.

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation, even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium or chloroform, nothing harsh or to injure a child's system. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. Cyrus H. Bowes.

ENGLISH BANTAM SIGNS FOR FRANKIE NEIL BOUT

Owen Moran Impresses San Francisco Critics—Who Look Him Over

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—Owen Moran, of Birmingham, England, bantam-weight champion of his own country has arrived, accompanied by Trainer Alf Wicks, the Kid Broad of Great Britain, for the fight with Frankie Neil. The boys are to fight at 122 pounds, and will take 50 per cent. of the receipts, divided 60 per cent. to the winner and 40 to the loser. The fight takes place on November 22.

Moran is a clean-cut chap, more after the American style than many of the English fighters who have come to this side. Unassuming, but at the same time impressive, one with an idea that the bantam knows his business, so far as a size-up in street clothes go, he looks the part of a fighter. His record bears this out, although he has none of the earmarks or facial bumps that come to a majority of the scappers.

In many ways Moran resembles Young Corbett in the days before the Denverite grew podgy from high living. He is of a chunky build, although rather short and small-boned. He isn't the kind of a fighter who talks shop continuously, and in the modest suit that he wears doesn't give out the impression of being in the pugilistic game.

Wicks is the giveaway. Once a stranger catches sight of the cauliflower ear that adorns the visage of Mr. Wicks, his trade is an open secret. Moran is 23 years and has been fighting for some seven years, during which time he has had seventy odd fights, most of them knockouts. This is his second trip to America. The first time he was given a six-round decision over Danny Doherty in Philadelphia and won from Monte Attell in New York in twenty rounds. He is reputed to be clever with either hand and undoubtedly has a hard kick.

"If I can beat Neil," said Moran yesterday, "I want a fight with Abe Attell for the bantam-weight championship. I think I can beat him. At any rate I am willing to take a chance. There isn't much money to be made in the fighting game in England. The highest purse they offer is $1,500, and usually much smaller. For that reason, I am going to cut the game when I return and go into business."

According to Moran, who knows Gunning Moir very well, Tommy Burns will have no cinch. "I will not say that Moir is going to win," said Moran, "because I know very little about Burns; but he can put up a good fight. The American impression that all English fighters break clean and step back without hitting in the clinches is wrong. Many of them do that very thing and Moir understands that part of the game."

Here is the record of Moran's principal fights:

In England—Eddy Ware, knockout, 3 rounds; Jim Kenrick, 7 rounds; Bob Kenrick, 6 rounds; Al Belmont, decision, 20 rounds; George Dixon, decision, 6 rounds; Al Bellows, knockout, 4 rounds; Young Pierce, 17 rounds; Digger Stanley, decision, 20 rounds; Cockney Cohen, knockout, 3 rounds; Chris Clark, 2 rounds; Tommy Burns, 3 rounds; Andrew Pokel, 11 rounds.

In America—Danny Doherty, decision, 6 rounds, Philadelphia; Monte Attell, decision, 20 rounds, New York; Tommy O'Toole, decision, 6 rounds, Philadelphia.

Waiting at Pier for Burns.

Jack Johnson, the heavyweight negro pugilist, has announced his intention of embarking in business with a saloon in New York city. This does not mean that Johnson has retired.

"Will I fight Burns?" he repeated, when asked "Yes, winner take all. That's my dream and my longing and I will wait for him at the pier when he returns."

LACROSSE PLAYERS BARRED

Suspended Men Prevented From Playing Football at Vancouver

Vancouver, Nov. 11.—Jim McConaghy and Ernie Murray, two local lacrosse players, who were suspended from the amateur ranks by the C. A. A. U., but who went south with the Rugby team and played in California, witnessed Saturday's match between the McGill and V. A. C. teams from the grand stand. The players are members of the V. A. C. team, and on Friday were asked to fill their usual places on the team. The McGill boys heard of this and informed the officials of the club that they could not play with these men till the present athletic muddle had been settled. Sooner than cause trouble and endanger the status of the collegians, the club men decided to comply with the request of the McGill club and the lacrosse players were notified of this action.

The matter will come up before the executive of the Rugby union again and definite action taken.

SHOULD PLACE TEAM IN NEW BALL LEAGUE

Local Fan Discourses on Victoria Chances of Entering the Northwestern

To the sporting editor of the Colonist: Sir,—During the past few weeks there has been considerable talk of Victoria securing a franchise in the Northwestern baseball league.

It is only a couple of years since this city had a league ball team, and the experiment was not much of a success, for the attendance at the home games was very poor and barely paid the railway fares, let alone the salaries of the players.

The Northwestern league, as it is now composed, consists of Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma, Aberdeen, Spokane and Butte.

Vancouver had a poor team or rather lack of unity in the business management, spreading to the team and finished in the cellar. The backers, however, quit about even on the season. Aberdeen claims a population as large as Victoria, and also draws upon Hoquiam with 10,000 more, but still this club dropped $2,800 on the season.

The salaries of the teams last season ranged around $3,000 a month, and for Victorians to dream of financing a team that could compete on even terms with the other aggregations, they must consider, first of all, whacking up something like $5,000 or $6,000 to cover the amount of the losses of the first season.

Grounds are another consideration. The Oak Bay grounds are too far from the city to catch a large number of fans, and if a league franchise is sought, grounds closer to the center of the city must first be secured. And grounds cost more money.

But leaving aside all consideration of finances and grounds, can Victoria really get a franchise?

Everett, with our old friend Frank Newman at the helm, wants admission. So does Helena, where Charlie Schaeffer, late of the Seattle team, is boosting the club.

Portland really belongs to the Northwest league by reason of its location, but the McCradies made money last year in the coast league, and will stick by the ship, notwithstanding the many roasts the Portland fans handed out to the Beavers.

Had the national commission agreed to a new rating of classification according to attendance and not population, Portland would very likely be now dickerling with Dugdale, Lucas & Co., but the amendment failed, and the rating remains as before—the Northwestern a class B league.

There is some talk of Aberdeen dropping out and "Red" Brown taking his team to Vancouver, admitting Everett as the sixth club, but the merchants on Grays Harbor realise the advertising value of a good team, and will dig down for the coin for another season.

What probably will be done in the Northwest league is to admit Everett and Helena to the present circuit, making eight clubs. When the Swashes are on the road, the Everett Smokestackers will play in Seattle, thus giving that city almost continuous ball.

Victoria's chances of getting into the Northwestern league are exceedingly slim. If a good man gets hold of a team in Victoria, he should join hands with the movement now on foot in Seattle to organize a class B league, comprising Bellingham, Olympia, Walla Walla, Centralia and North Yakima and thus give the local fans three games a week of good baseball. Such a league should be a great success from every standpoint.

ARDENT FAN.

Outsider Wins Handicap

The Inaugural Handicap at the Emeryville track, San Francisco, on Saturday, was won by an outsider in the betting, Jack Nunally, with Mont-Tyme, 1.39 1-5. Numbered among the starters were such well-known state horses as Uncle, Montgomery, Vell, Acrobat, Arima and Janeta, all of which have earned winning brackets on the New York tracks during the summer. The three first mentioned were favorites in the betting. Acrobat and Arima, from the stable of R. F. Carman, the Canadian horseman, were second choices.

Fast Horses in Canada

It is significant to note that three of the fastest pacing mares in the world, by records, are owned in Canada, two of them in Toronto. The Broncho (2:00 3-4) is owned by Rochon & Doble of Winnipeg; Maud Keswick (2:03 3-4), owned by O. B. Sheppard, and Lady May (2:04 1-4) is owned by Burns & Sheppard. The western-owned mare is reported to have broken down completely, but both Maud Keswick and Lady May will likely be out after the big purses on the Grand Circuit in 1908.

SEAL ROOKERIES WERE RAIDED

Japanese Sealers With Field Guns Drive Off Guards and Raid Hauling Grounds

REMAINED THERE A WEEK

Guards Tried Vainly to Get German Freighter to Carry Troops to Scene

Armed raids on the seal rookeries of the Copper islands (Komandorski islands) were continued this season by Japanese seal poachers, according to advices received by the R. M. S. Empress of India. The commander of the Russian patrol cruiser Mandjur on his return to Vladivostok reported from a cruise about the seal islands, which lie off the Kamchatka peninsula, and the Kamchatka coast fisheries reported that three Japanese sealers had raided the Copper island rookeries after driving away the guard with field guns. A number of the Japanese sealers are equipped with field guns and small machine guns. In this connection it may be said that sealers who have returned to Victoria saw small machine guns on some of the Japanese vessels which hunted in Bering sea this season. It was also reported to Washington that an armed raid similar to that which occurred on Copper islands was planned to take place at the Seapond rookery on St. Paul island. In consequence of this information on August 16 the United States ship Buffalo, the auxiliary cruiser which returned to Esquimaux from that trip a few days ago, was hurriedly despatched north to assist the revenue cutters engaged in patrol work.

The commander of the Russian cruiser Mandjur reported, according to the Dalrymple Okralna, a Russian newspaper published at Vladivostok, that both fishing and sealing vessels from Japan had raided rookeries and fishing stations during the season, engaging practically as pirates. The three schooners which went to raid Copper islands lay to off the depot where the Russian rookery guard was quartered and opened fire from three inch guns as far as the Russians could judge by the fragments of the shells picked up after the bombardment. The bombardment drove away the guard, and the poaching fleet lowered sealing boats and landed raiding parties, which clubbed and killed among the seal herds for a whole week without interruption.

One of the officials in charge of the guard left the rookery with a steam launch and hurried at considerable risk to Preobrazhensky bay on the Kamchatka coast, where he reported the raiding of the islands by Japanese to the local administration. The German steamer Vorwaerts, a steam freighter, under charter to the Okhotsko-Kamchatka Trading Company was lying at anchor at Preobrazhensky bay and the port officers asked him to carry some Russian soldiers with guns to the seal islands to sink the raider's vessels. The German captain declined to do so, stating that his vessel was chartered "only to convey freight." The raiders got away safely with several thousand skins.

The raids of the Japanese sealers during the past few seasons have severely depleted the seals of the Komandorski rookeries. At last reports there were 13,456 seals on the islands. The Russian government endeavored this season to protect the islands thoroughly, and sent an augmented patrol fleet, which included several cruisers, some of which were engaged in the recent mutiny at Vladivostok, the Mandjur among them; but the Japanese sealers seem to be able to watch the goings and comings of the patrol fleet closely, and raids were organized at favorable times. The rookery guards are poorly armed, but it is stated the Russian government will now follow the example set this season by the United States government and place field guns in position at the rookeries to assist the guards in beating off Japanese seal-raiders who have been so active both in Russian and United States waters since the close of the recent war.

The commander of the Mandjur has filed a report giving full particulars of Japanese lawlessness in Russian waters, and, by virtue of the recent treaty, the Russian authorities will demand the punishment by Japan of the seal raiders. These demands, either on the part of Russian or the United States, have availed little in the past.

6 p.m.—Clear, east wind, 24 miles an hour. Inward, at 4:10 p.m., Nor. steamer Hornelen, San Francisco, for British Columbia. Tatoosh Island, Nov. 11, 8 a.m.—Wind northeast, 15 miles an hour. Inward, steamer with black hull and stack, expected to be Norwegian steamer Elr.

During her cruise the Mandjur sighted over 80 Japanese fishing and sealing vessels. He stated that the patrol by cruisers alone was inadequate and favored the establishment of a number of coast stations to act in concert with the warships. The fishing schooners of the Japanese, according to the Mandjur's commander, are using most destructive methods when fishing. The vessels station themselves in the mouths of small rivers and place their nets from bank to bank with the result that fish are prevented from reaching the spawning grounds. Inhabitants of coast villages often become involved in fights with the Japanese fishermen, who are invariably well-armed and many killings have been reported.

JAPANESE SHIPPING.

Advices were received from Halpale by the Empress of India that a Japanese syndicate has bought up a line of local steamers run by M. Marty. The Avendr du Tonkin says that the sale has not yet been effected. M. Marty intends to part with his steamers in order to carry on a mercantile business alone at that port. A Japanese firm is one of the would-be purchasers, but the deal has not yet been settled. It will take some time before the sale will become an accomplished fact.

KAZEMBE STRUCK ROCK

Bucknall Steamer From New Zealand Damaged on Boulder in English Bay and Will Dock

The new steamer Kazembe, of the Bucknall Bros. line, will probably follow the steamer Tartar in the dry dock at Esquimaux. The Kazembe, when nearing Vancouver was taken into English Bay to an anchorage, and struck a boulder near Swash rock. Divers made an examination of the hull yesterday, after the vessel reached the wharf at Vancouver and it has been decided to dock the vessel for survey and repairs after her cargo is discharged. The Kazembe, which is making one trip in the Canadian-New Zealand service to replace the Bucaatur on account of the latter's stranding at Suva, is a new vessel built less than a year ago.

TWO JAPANESE LINERS

Iyo Maru Will Leave Outer Dock Today for Far East—Kaga Maru Due From Yokohama

The steamer Iyo Maru, of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha line, Capt. Thompson, is expected in port at noon from Seattle and will sail early this afternoon with a full cargo of general freight for Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki and Hongkong. The steamer Kaga Maru, Capt. G. Laparitz, is expected to reach port tomorrow from the Orient, having left Yokohama October 30 for this port with 171 steerage passengers, of whom 24 are Chinese, the others being Japanese, all for here. The vessel also has 724 tons of general cargo to be discharged here.

LOCAL SEALING FLEETS

Dora Siewerd Reached Port on Sunday—Otto is in the Straits—Vessels Preparing for Sea

The sealing schooner Dora Siewerd, Capt. W. Heater, reached port on Sunday from Bering sea with 477 seal skins, after a stormy trip down from the northern hunting grounds. The Dora Siewerd landed her Indian hunters at Clayoquot before coming to Victoria. The schooner Umbria, which arrived on Saturday paid off her crew yesterday. The schooner Thomas F. Bayard, the last of the fleet is expected in port within the next few days, with over 450 skins.

While the last of the fleet of Bering sea is not home, preparations are under way for the coast cruise by some of the vessels. The schooner Jessie, which Capt. Voss will take out within the next two weeks, is on the way to the Victoria Machinery depot, being overhauled, cleaned and painted, and the Ella, the smallest of the fleet, which has been chartered to several seal hunters, is being made ready for an offshore cruise.

MARINE NOTES

There was excitement in Japan when the R. M. S. Empress of China was reported sunk at her dock at Vancouver, according to advices received by her sister liner. Some Japanese newspapers, it seems, printed cablegrams to the effect that the C. P. R. liner on which Hon. Mr. Lemieux was about to sail on a mission to Japan had been sunk by Japanese.

The steamer Corwin reached Junau on Saturday, after one of the roughest trips she has experienced. The steward was severely injured. Twenty passengers for Katala are seeking to libel the steamer owing to the failure to land them at that port. The Blue Funnel liner steamer Ningchow, from this port, reached Liverpool via the Orient and the Suez canal on Sunday.

DIRIGO SALVES THE STEAMER COTTAGE CITY

Found Pacific Coast Co.'s Vessel Derelict With Propeller and Tailshaft Gone

The steamer Dirigo of the Alaskan Steamship company has towed the steamer Cottage City of the Pacific Coast Steamship company to Bella Bella with her tail shaft and propeller broken, in which condition she was found derelict, in Fitzhugh sound. Enquiries were being made yesterday for a tug to bring the disabled vessel to Seattle. The tug Lorne is absent, towing the disabled steamer Tampico to Seattle, and the Pilot is away taking the Lieut. Governor and some friends on a duck-shooting expedition; so a tug has been sent from Vancouver.

It is probable that the steamer Dirigo will secure several thousand dollars in salvage for towing the Cottage City to port. The Cottage City was awarded $8,000 by a Seattle court some years ago for towing the steamer City of Seattle to Juneau when that vessel was found under similar circumstances.

The steamer Princess May, which returned to port from Lynn canal yesterday afternoon spoke the Cottage City five miles from Bella Bella, where the Dirigo was taking her to an anchorage to await a tug. Capt. McLeod brought despatches from the Cottage City, whose officers informed him that they had lost the propeller a few hours before the Dirigo came in sight. The passengers will probably be brought south by the Dirigo.

The Princess May also sighted an American steamer, whose name was not learned, ashore near Ketchikan. It was thought she would be fetched with the Dirigo. The steamer Tampico was seen near Seymour Narrows on Sunday afternoon bound south in tow of the tug Lorne en route to Seattle. The Tampico was evidently making water freely forward, being well down by the head.

Included amongst the 130 passengers brought by the steamer from northern ports was Capt. Rucey and crew of the river steamer Hazelton, which has completed her work on the Skeena river for this season and been hauled out at Port Essington. The steamer Caledonia was still carrying freight to Kitselas canyon from Port Essington. Col. Thomas, who has been looking over some mining property recently acquired by him in the White Horse district was also a passenger.

The Princess May will sail north again.

BY CAR FERRY

The project for the establishment of a car ferry between Port Angeles and Everett is again revived. It is said that the ferry steamers of the Port Blakeley Mill company are available for service, and that if sufficient inducement can be had, will be placed on the route. The object of the promoters is to establish an extensive route to the mills on Port Angeles harbor, and by shipping the products on the car ferry, render further handling unnecessary until the freight shall have reached its eastern destination over the Great Northern tracks.

KEEMUN ENCOUNTERS STORM IN THE PACIFIC

Blue Funnel Liner Brought Cargo of 15,000 Tons of General Freight

The steamer Keemun of the Blue Funnel line, Capt. R. G. Barrage, was encountered on Sunday morning from Liverpool, via the Suez, Colombo, Singapore, Penang, Manila, Hongkong, Nagasaki, Kobe and Yokohama, encountered the tail end of a typhoon, running into the heart of a whirling storm at the 180th meridian, November 2, and was tossed by tremendous seas, which flooded the officer's rooms on the weather side (starboard) and washed away several ports and side-lights and a sternlight. The saloon was flooded with sewage from the decks, on which many heavy seas broke, while the steamer was being buffeted by the storm all the time notwithstanding that she was in splendid trim, being deeply laden with the largest cargo she has brought across the Pacific from west to east. The wind started to blow from the south-east, blowing with hurricane force, and increased south and to east. The barometer fell to 23.35. Other gales were encountered during the voyage, which was stormy throughout, being the roughest experienced by Capt. Conrad in his many trips across the ocean in the steamers Moyne, Peking and Keemun.

The Keemun brought 179 Japanese for this port, 30 being women, and there were six Japanese stowaways found hidden in the bunkers and elsewhere when the steamer was out one day from Japan. There were twelve Chinese passengers, six being returned to the coast by special warships to avoid freezing. At Manila 10,897 bales of hemp was loaded, and in all there is over 15,000 tons measurement of general freight. For Victoria there is over a thousand tons of general freight as well as boilers and machinery for the new hydrographic steamer which will be dispatched at the outer dock on scows for the British Columbia Marine yards when the Keemun returns during the week. There is also over 1,000 tons for Vancouver merchants.

EMPRESS OF INDIA

MAKES A FAST RUN

White Liner Reached Port on Sunday Under Eleven Days From Yokohama—Many Chinese

After a fast passage from the Orient, almost equalling her record made on the last inward trip, the R. M. S. Empress of India reached port on Sunday, under eleven days from Yokohama with 36 saloon, 47 intermediate, and 502 steerage passengers, the last all Chinese, of whom 93 paid the poll-tax of $500, 72 at this port and 21 at Vancouver, making a total contribution of $46,500 to the government's exchequer. The cargo, consisting of silk, tea, opium, cigars, etc., totalled 1,552 tons measurement. 763 weight. The passengers were made up for the most part of returning tourists, the total complement being one of the smallest carried by the steamer. The Empress of India left over five days later than the Keemun, which arrived the same day, but unlike that steamer had average winter weather, encountering no severe storms. The saloon passenger list was as follows: H. A. Alcock, Mrs. H. A. Alcock, Master Alcock, J. C. Balderton, E. Barber, J. M. Beattie, Mrs. J. M. Beattie, W. H. Beaman, Miss E. Beaman, J. R. Gillingham, E. W. M. Goelett, Mrs. E. W. M. Goelett, Jno. Hays, G. Hering, Miss Hind, Fritz Kayser, W. A. Lovatt, Mrs. W. A. Lovatt, G. E. Mallinson, Miss McLeod, T. Mikimoto, H. D. Morrison, E. M. Rathbone, W. S. Reid, D. M. Ross, T. H. Sayer, Miss Scarfe, Miss Scarfe, A. Schmidt, A. Seidel, H. G. Shims, G. Thomas, Mrs. Wesson, Miss Wesson.

Advices were received by the Empress of the loss of the steamer Kinsuwa Maru at sea, off Hokkaido, during a storm. Her crew of 19 and 81 passengers were rescued in the early part of time by the steamer Tokachi Maru. The Wakanoura Maru also reported rescuing thirteen men from a derelict junk, all being enclaved and in a pitiful state. There were three corpses on board. News was also received that the steamer Kinsuwa Maru, which was wrecked on October 23, many buildings in the village being wrecked.

WORLD'S BEST DESTROYER

Japanese Government Plans Best Vessel of Her Class With Speed of 35 Knots an Hour

Mail advices received yesterday from Tokyo state that the Japanese naval department had instructed the Mardzur naval dockyard to construct a large destroyer for use for reconnoitering and escort purposes. According to later particulars, the new vessel is to be without equal among the vessels of her class in the navies of the world. The new type of British destroyer, one of which was launched in the summer, has been taken as the model, but the Japanese vessel is to excel her prototype in size and speed. The details cannot yet be definitely given, but it is understood that she will be a vessel of about 1,050 or 1,100 tons (the British destroyer is 1,000 tons), with a speed of about 35 knots, and will carry one 5 inch gun, eight 4 inch guns, and four torpedo tubes. Her steaming capacity will be greater than that of the British destroyer, as the Japanese authorities concerned are paying greater attention to radius of action. The vessel will be designed to face any weather and is intended that she should be able to accompany cruisers and battleships wherever they may go.

Capt. Jas. Gaudin, agent of marine, has been advised by Samuel Cliffe, of Comox that the buoy light placed on Kelp Bar reef a short time ago has been extinguished, and the agent says this aid will be reestablished as soon as possible.

SHEARWATER PROTEST HELD OVER FOR WEEK

Football Executive Talks Much
But Fails to Arrive at Any Decision

The meeting of the Victoria District Football league executive called for last evening at the Y. M. C. A. to consider the protest lodged by the Shearwater team in connection with the game with the James Bay Athletic association at Oak Bay a week ago last Saturday provoked a lot of discussion but did not end
in anything definite being accomplished,
the protest being held over for another meeting next Saturday evening for final settlement.

R. J. Fell, president of the league, was in the chair and the representatives of the clubs present were: Y. M. C. A., A. J. Bruce; Shearwater, Findlay; Esquimalt, Sheriff; James Bay Athletic association, C. G. Duncan; Garrison, Sullivan; Fifth Regiment, I. Lorimer.
H. M. Egeria was not represented.

Before the delegates began the discussion, the president announced that the Victoria Uniteds games be all definitely and the points given to the other teams.

A letter from J. G. Brown, referee of this disputed game, giving his report was read in which he disputed the right of the Shearwater to protest at this time, claiming that the time limit had not been complied with inasmuch as the constitution provided that the referee must be informed of a protest on the field of play.

In view of the report Mr. Lorimer moved, seconded by Mr. Bruce, that the protest be not considered. The vote resulted in a tie, two all Esquimalt and the Garrison voting against it. The Shearwater and J. B. A. representatives were barred from voting and Mr.
Duncan took exception to the president giving a casting vote asserting that he had already given an opinion in the matter unfavorable to the J. B. A. Mr.
Fell, when he heard this, declined to vote at all and the motion was lost on the vote.

It was then decided to defer action until Saturday evening when copies of the new constitution will be on hand.
According to the constitution the protest must be decided by the president and the official board of referees, so that if the executive fails to act the protest is in order it will be taken out of its hands and a committee of four official referees will take the protest.

The case of Tait and Clarkson, the players ruled out in the Shearwater game, was then taken up and by Mr. Duncan and seconded by Mr. Sullivan was passed. "That Tait and Clarkson be cautioned by the executive and any further rough play dealt with severely."

It was decided that in the future all games should commence at 2:30 o'clock.

VENUE FOR SATURDAY Shearwater Team Wants to Play at Work Point Barracks

The venue for next Saturday's games in the Victoria District Football league has not yet been determined. The fifth regiment and Y. M. C. A. will play at Beacon Hill but the other two games are in doubt. The league executive desires the game between H. M. S. Shearwater and James Bay Athletic association take place at Oak Bay, where it should draw a big gate, but the Shearwater men want to play at Work
Point barracks as the previous game took place at Oak Bay. The point will be decided today. If this game is set for Work Point, Esquimalt and the Garrison will play at Oak Bay, otherwise the latter game will take place at Work Point.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS TO PLAY ON SATURDAY

Victoria and Vancouver Basketballers to Contest for Thompson Cup

The Vancouver High school and the Victoria High school basketball teams will attempt to lower each others colors
at the Drill hall on Saturday evening.
The Thompson Basketball cup, which will be the trophy for the victor, is the play for which the teams will contend
and will insure a good game with plenty of enthusiasm.

The local team is a well-balanced aggregation and the Terminal city players will have their work out to carry off the cup. The players are practising faithfully for the encounter and will be in condition to set a fast pace. The game will start at 8 o'clock and should attract a big attendance.

FAST BOXING BOUTS FOR OWLS' CONCERT

Splendid Card Arranged for Big Athletic Event Next Thursday Night

The programme for the big athletic concert under the auspices of the local off of the Brotherhood of Owls comprising some of the best events pullled off in Victoria in many years. When it was announced that Dabroe, the Tacoma middleweight would not be able to meet Hicks, the manager got the wires buzzing in an endeavor to get a man to meet Hicks or another bout even better. He succeeded yesterday in signing up two of the most prominent young boxers on the coast for ten rounds for points with eight-ounce gloves at 142 pounds. These boys are Tom Fifield of Vancouver, but recently from San Francisco, and Lynn White, the Australian welter. These men were signed because of their scientific work. The local match is for points only and slugging will not be tolerated.

Bob Ritchie has been working out at the Queen's hotel for his match with Colly Hill and announces that he is in excellent condition. Speaking of his match in Vancouver with E. Greenwood, before making his trip to Australia, he reached the United States five months ago and has made such an excellent record along the coast. The latter was located in Portland, Ore., where he was offered both men in the way of expenses, and White is now en route to the city, while Fifield will leave Vancouver on Wednesday's boat. These men were signed because of their scientific work. The local match is for points only and slugging will not be tolerated.

At a meeting of the roads and sewers committee last week a committee from the school trustees waited on the councillors in regard to the sale of the present building and site, in view of the proposed erection of a new schoolhouse, and were informed that their wishes would meet with consideration.

C. M. Tait wrote the council as to the location of the road line on the west side of Shoal Bay and the council decided that he would have to move his fence back to the old line, as the new fence line encroaches on the road.

The reeve reported that he had seen the government with regard to the building of a stone culvert on the new road over Bowker creek instead of a bridge as was originally proposed, the government agreeing to do as the council suggested.

In regard to the clearing out of the entrance to the Thames river, to prevent the water backing up and flooding the lands above it, a letter was read from the solicitors giving an opinion that the council would not be liable for any damage done in this matter.

A letter was read from Charles W.
Wilson, representing the syndicate which has secured a section of the Bowker estate and intends to subdivide it, asking permission to use the municipality's lands in the work. The request was denied.

John L. Colbert offered to lay 2,500 feet of wrought iron piping at 60 cents per foot, exclusive of the trenching, from Newport avenue along Long Branch avenue to the west side of Island road and then to Central avenue, and the offer was accepted. The work will be done as a local improvement.

Councillor Fernie inquired whether the petitions regarding the bylaws for the purchase of waterfront property and municipal purposes had been presented. The clerk stated that the petitions were about completed and would be ready by Friday next.

gathered in Stanford field when the whistle started the game at 2:15.

Stanford's men outplayed California in

SHORT SESSION OF OAK BAY COUNCIL

Members Dispose of Some Business Not Transacted
at Private Meetings

The actual business transacted at last night's meeting of the Oak Bay municipal council outside of the hearing of reports of special meetings and committees lasted only half an hour. Most of the work of the council is being carried on in the special sessions, for there were no less than three of these since the last regular meeting of the board. The first of these meetings in camera was called to give a bylaw for local improvement assessment reconsideration and final passage on Oct. 30. Then there was another closed meeting last Tuesday, when the bylaw authorizing the collection of the road tax was given its first, second and third readings. A third meeting of the kind from which the press is excluded took place last Thursday when the bylaw was finally passed. Incidentally several communications and reports were taken up at these private meetings.

A resolution was passed at special session No. 2 authorizing the overdraft with the Bank of Montreal on works of local improvements which have been found necessary.
